

Still No Headway In Talks

PARIS (AP) — The four delegations in the Vietnam peace talks met for six hours and 20 minutes today but made no headway toward breaking a deadlock.

"We tried again today to call the attention of the other side to the future," said U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. "We also repeated and clarified some of the specific proposals we have made. It was a long day... and although we do our very best to achieve quick progress, the going is hard. Therefore, there must be no false optimism. But we must not be discouraged. The United States will persevere in the search for a just and lasting peace."

The four delegations scheduled another session for next Thursday.

In the meeting, Lodge called on North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front to "come to grips" with basic problems of peace. But the talks were bogged down into a solid deadlock, sealed by violent attacks on the government of South Vietnam.

The new attack by the NLF's chief negotiator, Tran Buu Kiem, indicated clearly that the Front's position had hardened.

Opening the third weekly session of the four-party talks, Kiem said the Paris conference "can make no progress" as long as the administration of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Tran Van Huong remains in office.

"The south Vietnamese population," he continued, "firmly demands this administration's overthrow and the establishment of a cabinet in Saigon for the re-establishment of peace, a cabinet which will engage in serious discussions with the National Liberation Front to end the American war of aggression and bring peace, independence and sovereignty to South Vietnam."

Railroad To List Reasons

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Norfolk and Western Railway will be ordered to show Friday why it is trying to abandon the last of its passenger service in Missouri in the face of an earlier order that the two trains between St. Louis and Kansas City be kept in operation.

Jeremiah D. Finnegan, chief counsel for the Missouri Public Service Commission, said the citation would be issued today.

The Norfolk and Western notice said it wanted to abandon trains 209 and 210 between St. Louis and Kansas City. Their discontinuance also would mean the end of service by four trains daily between Centralia, on the road's main line, and Columbia.

Special Assistant Status for Attorney

Attorney General John C. Danforth said today George H. Miller, Sedalia, has been named a Special Assistant Attorney General.

Danforth said Miller was selected for his ability as an outstanding Missouri lawyer.

Special Assistants have numerous duties to perform, usually assigned by the Attorney General. These include preparing briefs in appeal cases, rendering opinions in cases where the law is not cut-and-dried, assisting county prosecuting attorneys in trial of criminal cases and in other matters where the attorney general's advice is requested.

In the Balance

The front half of this International truck, driven by Terry Prall, 22, 1523 East Sixth, hangs suspended over the Lamine River, just east of Otterville. The entire front wheel assembly on the unit, plus the gas tank and an exhaust pipe, were ripped off in the accident, which occurred about mid-afternoon Wednesday. Prall said he was trying to avoid a possible collision with other trucks when his own unit went across the highway and straddled the bridge railing.

Almost Over the Edge

Terry Prall, 22, 1523 East Sixth, can consider himself a lucky man. The truck he was driving east on Highway 50, almost vaulted over the railing of the Lamine River Bridge just outside Otterville, about mid-afternoon Wednesday.

The Royal Crown Cola truck, according to Prall, was headed for Boonville when the accident occurred. Prall tells it this way:

He was approaching the bridge when he saw two big trucks approaching the bridge. He felt sure that an accident might occur if all three trucks crossed the bridge at the same time.

Prall slowed down, but then his luck went sour. The right front wheel on his truck caught the "lip" on the highway. "I tried to bring it back on the highway, but it got away from me," he said.

The next thing he knew, Prall was thrown out of the cab of the truck onto a slope leading to the Lamine River. The truck stopped, straddling the bridge rail.

The entire front wheel assembly of the truck, the gas tank and an exhaust pipe were ripped from under the vehicle. The right front wheel was smashed against the rear tandem, while the left front wheel was left in a position indicating it was holding part of the vehicle up.

Almost all of the cab section was left suspended over a drop estimated by some witnesses to be about 25 to 30 feet down. Prall received a slight injury to his right leg when he was thrown from the vehicle.

Trooper B.F. Goodin investigated the accident

Statement Clarified By Norris

Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools, Thursday elaborated on a statement in a story in Wednesday's Sedalia Democrat concerning the recent junior high school bond issue election.

Norris said he did not single out a particular area in his reference to 1,800 no votes generally expected in school elections. The story said the votes came from one area, but Norris said that actually the entire school district was included in the figure used.

Work for Sentinel System Is Stopped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has ordered major work on the $5.5-billion Sentinel antiballistic missile system halted temporarily pending a high-level review of antimissile plans, the Pentagon announced today.

The move comes in the wake of growing congressional criticism about plans for the controversial Sentinel defense.

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee has told the Defense Department his group will approve no construction plans for Sentinel sites until the Nixon administration makes known its intentions about the program.

The Pentagon said "certain aspects" of the Sentinel program are being deferred.

These include the selection and buying of land for antimissile complexes as well as construction of Sentinel facilities.

"The Sentinel system is being reeled as art of our over-all look at major weapons systems," a defense statement said. "That review is continuing on a priority basis."

"Secretary Laird hopes that this review will be completed early in March."

Postponing actions were ordered last week, the Pentagon said, pending completion of the Sentinel review which is being directed by Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard.

A House Armed Services Committee source said Wednesday that Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, has sent Laird a letter serving notice that no plans will be approved until the committee hears from Laird and President Nixon.

the Viet Cong's political structure as well as its military force. Scores of similar cordon operations have been carried out in recent months.

Before the troops moved into Hung Long at dawn, Saigon shook as U.S. bombers pounded the surrounding area. A U.S. spokesman said the American planes bombed "uninhabited areas."

The new operation also was part of the strategy to prevent a repeat of the Viet Cong's big offensive during the Tet celebration a year ago of the lunar new year.

The morning U.S. communique reported only two clashes, one in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon and the other in the northernmost 1st Corps Area. It said 25 enemy were killed and there were no American casualties.

President Schedules Journey to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he will begin a five-nation trip through Western Europe on February 23 and confer with government leaders of Belgium, Britain, West Germany, Italy, and France.

He told of his plans at a news conference, the second he has held as President.

In Rome he will confer with Pope Paul VI. During his trip to Germany he will pay a visit to West Berlin. His talks will include discussions with NATO leaders.

Nixon described the purpose of the trip as being to strengthen the Western Alliance. He said such a mission was necessary before any meeting with the Russians.

On other fronts he said: "Some American troops will be brought home from Vietnam as soon as South Vietnam takes over more of the fighting or the Paris peace talks progress justly such action."

—Of the Paris peace talks, "I think we have made a good start."

—The United States is assuming the initiative in Middle East peace efforts by accepting talks among four power representatives at the United Nations. The area, he said, "might explode into a major war."

—He favors "a massive infusion" of federal financial aid to the nation's schools, with emphasis on the elementary and secondary levels. He said also he believes federal money should be denied school districts which perpetuate racial segregation.

—Of the case of the spy ship Pueblo: "I will examine the whole record myself with regard to this incident and with regard to seeing that the whole thing can be avoided in the future."

—He is in favor of long range, very stringent regulation of offshore oil drilling to prevent repetitions of the current pollution of a vast ocean area off California.

Nixon opened the conference with comments on his European trip.

He said the agenda for his meetings is wide open. He wants the trip to help "strengthen and revitalize" the Western alliance.

"I want to make clear this is only a first step," Nixon said.

"Before we have meetings with Soviet leaders," he declared, "it is vitally important that we have talks with allied leaders."

On Vietnam, Nixon said that "just as soon as" South Vietnamese readiness to take over more of the war, or the peace talks in Paris, or other develop-

Find Body Of Former Sedalian

The body of Lawrence Saenz, 54, Warrensburg, a former Sedalian missing since Jan. 22 was found Wednesday in a side ditch on a road about 6 miles northeast of Warrensburg.

Johnson County Sheriff Harlan Temple reported that Everett Norris, a farmer in that area who travels the road frequently in his work, found the body about 11 a.m. Wednesday. Temple listed the cause of death as being multiple stab wounds.

Dr. Keith Jones, Johnson County Coroner, after an autopsy, ruled that death was due to bleeding into the lung and the collapse of the left lung due to penetrating wounds from the back, produced by a sharp instrument similar to a knife. A wound in the neck produced by a similar instrument was given as a contributing factor. All wounds were inflicted by an unknown assailant, according to the coroner's report.

Authorities are investigating robbery as a possible motive for the slaying. Saenz was reportedly carrying two money bags which contained some checks and a small amount of cash when he left his office about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 22. This was the last time anyone saw Saenz alive according to Sheriff Temple.

There was no money or identification found on the body. He was believed to have

Repeal Measure Approved

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A Senate committee approved Wednesday a bill to repeal Missouri's motor vehicle inspection law and a House committee voted to recommend repeal of part of the personal property tax.

The House Committee on Constitutional amendments voted 6-1 to repeal the personal property tax on household goods, furniture, wearing apparel and articles of personal use. It would not affect automobiles.

That committee also approved a proposal to allow an increase in school tax levies. It added four amendments, one to make the proposal state-wide instead of St. Louis County alone as intended by its sponsors. Rep. Donald J. Gralike, D-St. Louis.

Sen. Edward T. Linehan, D-St. Louis, chairman of the Senate Roads and Highways Committee, said the vote was 7-4 to send the vehicle inspection repealer to the floor for debate.

Legislators have been besieged with petitions carrying thousands of names urging outright repeal of the law since it went into effect Jan. 1.

A special House committee will meet Sunday at 7 p.m. to begin drafting a proposal for changes in the law. It has until Tuesday to complete its proposals.

WEATHER

Clearing and a little colder tonight. Partly cloudy with little temperature change Friday. Lows tonight near 30. Highs Friday near 50.

The temperature Thursday was 42 at 7 a.m. and 47 at noon. Low Wednesday night was 42.

Sunset Thursday will be at 5:40 p.m.; sunrise Friday will be at 7:13 a.m.

College Enrollment Sees Increase of 20 Percent

Dr. Joyce Fielding, director of Admissions and Student Personnel, State Fair Community College, said today second semester enrollment in the various classes being conducted at the Pettis-Benton Counties school now totals 534 students.

The enrollment figure represents approximately a 20 per cent increase over the original semester at the new college.

Fred E. Davis, president of the college, said "Although we were most optimistic about the potential growth of State Fair Community College, our expectations have been exceeded as far as the first year of operations are concerned."

"We are not only pleased with the full-time day academic enrollment, but the response by the community to the many adult and evening courses has been most gratifying," he added.

In the break-down of student participation and registration at the college, Dr. Fielding reported there are 212 enrolled during the day, including 73 students taking vocational and technical courses. The majority of the day students are under a transfer program, planning to continue their education at a four-year institution of learning.

In the evening enrollment, an "off campus" course has been established at Warsaw. There are nine students enrolled in an accounting class in that community.

There are 75 evening students in mid-management, a course to train people in industry and business. This curriculum was so popular, according to Dr. Fielding, that it required three classes and two additional instructors at the college. The day mid-management course, designed as an associate degree course is attended by an additional 18 students.

There are 15 enrolled in the practical nursing course, and in the future the demands in this field will no doubt be doubled or tripled, college officials said.

Other evening classes include

Bill Would End Capital Punishment in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill to abolish the death penalty was introduced in the State Senate today.

Another controversial measure made a new appearance in the form of a "shared time" bill to let parochial and private school students attend public schools for special training.

Sen. Raymond Howard, one of the Senate's two Negroes, offered the bill to abolish capital punishment. It has been in the Legislature before but has not won approval in recent years.

Howard called the death penalty one of the most cruel punishments known to man. He granted some people would say crime in the streets makes the death penalty necessary but said not one person was executed in the United States last year.

"Capital punishment is not a deterrent to crime," he said, "but a form of vengeance which makes the state a perpetrator of crime itself."

Sen. John F. Downs, D-St. Joseph, jokingly referred to his shared time bill as non-controversial. Always in past years it has brought hundreds of partisans on both sides of the issue to the legislative halls.

The state budget office estimated total cost of allowing private and parochial students to attend public schools for special courses during part of the day would be $2,277,587 a year.

Also offered in the Senate was a proposed constitutional amendment to grant fast growing St. Louis County broad home rule powers. It was sponsored by six county senators of both parties and the sponsor, Sen. John J. Johnson, D-Afton, said it has the approval of Lawrence K. Roos, St. Louis County supervisor, and the County Council.

A new wrinkle in the plan would require any proposition put before the voters to spell out in detail the governmental changes contemplated, their cost and how they would be financed.

Proposals to legalize horse and dog racing and boost the cigarette tax five cents were introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

A proposed constitutional amendment in the House would make wagering on races legal and set aside 30 per cent of the fees and betting percentages for the state mental diseases fund.

It would also tag 30 per cent for aid to public schools and 30

Negro Prisoners to Stay In Cells, Warden Decides

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Warden Harold R. Swenson said today some 380 rebellious Negro prisoners will remain in their cells in Missouri Penitentiary.

"We'll see what their attitude is this evening before deciding whether to let them back in regular meal lines and give them a chance to go back to their regular job assignments," he said.

The group Swenson called "Black Militants" protested Tuesday evening that guards had manhandled a Negro who caused a noisy disturbance. The guards denied doing the man any physical harm and he, too, said he wasn't hurt. Swenson reported.

Wednesday morning the rebellious inmates from "B" and "C" halls refused to go to work, or to go back into their cells. Instead they milled around in their cellblock halls.

Swenson took immediate riot control action. He called on the Missouri Highway Patrol and some two dozen troopers were dispatched. Guards were issued weapons and the prisoners were given three minutes to return to their cells.

Enemy Casualties Rise Sharply

SAIGON (AP) — Despite daily communiques reporting only light, scattered fighting, the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed last week exceeded 3,000 for the first time in four and a half months, according to the weekly casualty report from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands.

A U.S. spokesman insisted that the total of 3,190 enemy soldiers reported killed last week was tabulated from body counts by troops in the field. It was the highest enemy toll since the week of Sept. 15-21, when 3,380 were reported killed.

The spokesman's explanation of the seeming inconsistency was one the U.S. Command has made repeatedly: There are hundreds of small clashes in which small numbers of enemy soldiers are killed, but these are not considered significant enough to report in the daily communiques.

In addition, some reports are delayed; for example, if enemy troops are killed in an air strike but their bodies are not found for several weeks, they are included in the total for the week in which they are found.

Also many of the enemy dead are killed by artillery and air strikes and the body count these counts frequently is done by aerial observers instead of by more accurate ground checks.

The total of American and South Vietnamese battle dead last week remained about what they had been for the previous three weeks: 198 Americans and 242 government soldiers.

The U.S. Command also announced that an American UH1 helicopter supporting South Vietnamese infantrymen was shot down 44 miles east of Saigon Wednesday night and all four Americans aboard were killed. It was the 2,341st American helicopter lost in the war.

Meanwhile, a U.S. and South Vietnamese task force launched a pacification operation four miles south of Saigon today to smash the underground Viet Cong political network there and keep the enemy command off balance.

Several battalions of American troops from the 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the South Vietnamese Ranger Group threw a cordon around the village of Hung Long and began screening the 4,500 residents to weed out those who were part of the underground or had other ties with the Viet Cong.

The cordon operation is part of the strategy of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, to crush

More Comments For 'Stumbling' Wife

Dear Ann Landers: I am still stunned by the letter from the woman who stumbled over her husband and her sister in the backyard at 5:00 a.m. It was so much like my problem 13 years ago. Only it wasn't my sister, it was my mother. Your advice was excellent and I hope the woman who wrote to you takes it.

My mother was twice divorced. When I caught her with my husband she was "between husbands," drinking heavily and very mixed up. I was shocked and brokenhearted. The two people I loved most in the world had betrayed me. How could they?

I prayed for courage and compassion and my prayers were answered. I vowed never to mention the ugly incident again and I kept my word. My husband has kept his word, too. He has devoted his life to making me happy. He is a loyal and loving mate. Our marriage is a good one.

My mother is now married to Number Three and we are on friendly terms. I am glad now that I closed no doors. For had I done so, I would have been on the outside. — BEEN THERE TOO

Dear B.T.: Your courage and selflessness paid off. Heartiest congratulations.

Dear Ann Landers: Did you know that God is a Negro, a Catholic and a Democrat? Well, neither did we until tonight. Our neighbors just left — but not before they spelled it all out. We expressed some surprise at this allegation and were told, "It's all there in the Bible." When we asked, "Where in the Bible?" we were advised to "read between the lines."

Please check with your authorities, Ann, and let us know if they can produce any evidence to substantiate this astonishing statement. Thank you. — WILLING TO LEARN

Dear Willing: I'm willing, too. Ask your neighbors between which lines — and I'll look there, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-year-old son is in the service, stationed 700 miles away. Every Sunday he telephones and I live for those calls. Our phone bill is pretty high, of course, because he calls collect.

My husband raises a fuss every time the phone bill comes. I've told him I can't think of a way I'd rather spend the money. He says, "The boy should be just as glad to hear our voices as we are to hear his."

Soon our son will be leaving for Vietnam. I get sick thinking about it. Am I the only "foolish" parent in the world who thinks it is all right to "throw out money on nonsense?" Please tell me. — "SPENDTHRIFT" MOTHER

Dear Mother: There are approximately 30,000 sets of parents in this country who would give everything they own to hear their son's voice again, but they never will. Please hand this column to your husband.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (c) 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

GED Classes Being Held

General Educational Development classes are being held at State Fair Community College for persons having completed the eighth grade, but who have not graduated from high school.

The GED class is designed to prepare its students to successfully pass the equivalency examination. The certificate issued upon successful completion of this examination serves in place of the high school diploma. The cost to each student is $4 for the textbook and $20 for instructional costs. It is recommended that all students be 20 years of age or over.

Anyone interested in working toward the high school equivalency certificate is asked to contact Dr. Stephen Poort's office at 826-7100 for additional information. No one will be admitted to the class after Feb. 13.

Christian Leadership Group Rebuilds Itself

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Ten months after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the organization which he founded and headed for 11 years is pulling itself together, reorganizing, trimming staff and mapping new campaigns to fight poverty and racism.

It is a "new thrust" for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SCLC, under command of the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, the Alabama-born Baptist preacher who succeeded King last April.

Long-range efforts to organize on economic, political and educational fronts keynote Abernathy's strategy.

The emphasis will be on often undramatic programs, such as housing projects and negotiating for better jobs, rather than headline-getting marches and protest demonstrations.

A pilot project in the organizing stage at Philadelphia, Pa., will concentrate on improving schools for Negroes.

"This is the real hard nitty gritty," said the Rev. Joseph E. Lowery of Atlanta, chairman of the 53-member board of directors. "We recognize the fact that a larger percentage of our work may not be glamorous, dramatic, attention-getting."

Lowery and other SCLC sources confirmed that the organization, dependent upon contributions, has been in a low period financially but expects to remain solvent. Some staff members, including many hired for the Poor People's Campaign last year in Washington, have been discharged.

Others probably will be released. The staff numbers about 100, trimmed from upwards of 150 during the Poor People's Campaign.

"There will be changes in staff structure and staff responsibility," Lowery said. These changes will be worked out over the next three months. But he said no drastic or major change of personnel is likely. Nor will Abernathy be shifted from the president's job, Lowery said.

High Cost For City Assistance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said Tuesday the $60 million the Urban Coalition of eight Missouri mayors is asking for would mean the equivalent of a 40 per cent surcharge on state income tax.

Hearnes, in Jefferson City, said in a telephone interview with a St. Louis radio newsman, "The people of St. Louis have not been given the facts. The amount which the mayors are seeking is equivalent to a 40 per cent surcharge on their income tax."

Hearnes added, "This has never been given to them by any of the media."

The governor said the best thing Mayor A. J. Cervantes, leader of the coalition of eight Missouri cities, could do is testify about how he would raise the money and what he would spend it on and let legislators vote on it.

But, Hearnes added, "the legislators who vote for it would be voting for that." By "that" the governor indicated he meant the equivalent of the 40 per cent surcharge.

It's a matter of streamlining, he said.

Benard Lafayette, 28, program coordinator who joined the staff prior to King's death, said the staff was being tailored to fit program needs.

"We haven't finished yet," he said.

Treasurer Cirilo McSweeney of Chicago said SCLC was "in pretty good shape" financially. He said there will be more direct fund raising in black communities by soliciting. A "Tag Day" project initiated last year in several cities will be expanded nationwide, he said, with contributors being given tags to indicate their support.

SCLC operates mainly on money from its regular mail appeals. Funds also are raised at benefits by entertainers and at rallies foundations finance some projects. Last October, SCLC Foundation received a $35,000 payment of profits from a King biography.

Little change of direction seems likely. Instead, SCLC will be concentrating on the type of programs begun in recent years, unspectacular programs that have paid high dividends and often go unnoticed publicly.

Most significant of these is Operation Breadbasket, the economic improvement program which in Chicago alone has gained hundreds of jobs for Negroes.

Beach Is Ruined

Hundreds of workers spread straw on the beach in an attempt to soak up the heavy black crude oil reaching the shore of Santa Barbara, Calif. Some 21,000 gallons a day is bubbling from an off-shore oil well causing a tar like mess, from two to six inches thick, to wash up on the beach.

Capsule of Disaster

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The penetrating smell of crude oil seems to be everywhere. Beautiful beaches are blackened for miles. The once sparkling blue harbor of this scenic resort city is covered with thick, gummy slime. A wildlife expert calls it the worst disaster ever to hit California bird life.

That was a capsule picture today as a runaway undersea well six miles off the Southern California coast continued to spurt oil at 21,000 gallons a day.

The oil slick extends 40 miles seaward, encircling several islands, and covers an estimated 800 square miles of the Pacific Ocean.

Praise For Latest Play on TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Teacher, Teacher," an original 90-minute drama on NBC Wednesday night was at base an inspirational story of the hard-won release of a young boy from the prison of a clouded mind. But more than that, it was an exciting and suspenseful play.

There was Freddie Niles, who at 13 could neither read nor write because of serious mental retardation. The play told how two skillful teachers, each in his own way, taught him to work with his mind and with his hands. And in the play, the work helped heal the wounds of one of his teachers.

David McCallum sensitively played the touchy young school teacher, Hamilton Cade, emerging from a shattering experience of a broken marriage, who comes to the Niles home as tutor just before the boy's protective and loving father had to be absent for a protracted period. At the same time, there came to the estate Charles Carter—played quietly and gently by Ossie Davis, a retired air force captain who had decided to work as a handyman.

Freddie responded immediately to Carter's calm, casual treatment and was fascinated by tools. Cade pushed him hard with lessons and they had a poor relationship. This ultimately led to a fiery confrontation between the two men. But between them they led Freddie to a point where he was beginning to read, write and make friends.

Most remarkable and at times almost unbearably moving was the performance of 13-year-old Billy Schulman as Freddie. The boy, who actually is retarded, skillfully showed the progress of his character from the early stages when he could scarcely talk or understand to a point where he was participating in the world around him.

Fielder Cook directed the play credited originally to Allan E. Sloane, although the name "Elison Carrol" appeared on the screen. Sloane requested that his name be removed because so much of his dialogue could not be used.

But no matter who wrote it, it was a rich and meaningful television event.

If, as seems likely, television is about to be inundated with reasonably exact facsimiles of "Laugh-In," it is only fair that "Laugh-In's" creators get there first with a miniversion of the NBC hit. "Turn-On," ABC's new half-hour comedy series, has a slightly modified format, but the tempo and the type of material—a furious mix of political shafts, sight and nonsense gags, doubles entendres and frankly blue jokes—is a twin of the established show. If you don't get enough of this on Monday nights, you'll probably love it on Wednesday's.

Postmasters Hail Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmasters across the nation hailed the Nixon administration's first move to divorce postal affairs from politics today. But there was some doubt the traditional marriage will be broken up.

"Patronage was a possibility under the old system but in most cases it wasn't a problem," said Seattle Postmaster James Symbol.

"This is a good step, but it doesn't change much."

"It may give the postmaster general more latitude in selecting men who are real business managers. The Post Office Department needs real business managers," said Los Angeles Postmaster Leslie N. Shaw.

But, he added, "I am not sure just one changeover is going to correct the problem. In fact, I'm sure it isn't."

The remarks of Symbol and Shaw, a Negro postal-service career man who came up through the ranks, were typical of the reaction in a cross-country survey to the Nixon administration's announcement Wednesday that henceforth all postmasters will be selected on merit.

In moving to wipe out a patronage tradition almost as old as the Republic, President Nixon said that usually the party in office does not want to give up the power to appoint postmasters and added "this is the time, I believe, to bite that bullet."

Just how much of a bite was taken was a little unclear. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said later that the immediate effect would be to withdraw 2,130 acting postmasterships and require the appointees to take new examinations for their jobs.

The political machinery, however, that locks postmasterships into the patronage system must be changed by legislation, not executive order and until the Senate votes to give up its power of confirmation over such appointments a lasting break with the past cannot be assured.

Under current practice, senators generally select from the top three candidates in their own cities who have qualified by Civil Service examination. Representatives chose the rest from the top three qualifiers in their districts.

As long as the power to veto a nominee lies with Congress, the preference of the postmaster general presumably could be blocked should local political needs momentarily eclipse post-al merit.

Chairman Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., indicated a favorable response by his Senate Post Office Committee, and noted that the Senate approved "this course of action" two years ago in a congressional reorganization bill that died in the House.

Bell Taxes Paid To Pettis County

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has announced a property tax payment of $219,162.67 to Pettis County for 1968.

Statewide, the company paid $15,250,000 in property taxes in 1968, an increase of more than $1.5 million over 1967.

The county payment makes the telephone company the largest taxpayer in Pettis County. Jack Spilker, local manager, pointed out.

Kansas Town With Some Big Problems

TOPEKA (AP)—What do you do about the April city election in Wellsford, Kan?

The city has 11 eligible voters. Two are away in military service.

Two are away on construction jobs.

Two are in rest homes.

That leaves five.

Five voters are required to man the election board. By law the election board members are to remain on duty 12 hours.

The city is supposed to elect a mayor and five council members.

As of today the Wellsford ballot will contain only blank lines.

Mrs. Marion McDonald, elections official in the office of the Kansas Secretary of State, said she had been contacted about the Wellsford problem by the Kiowa County clerk, Chester Hendrix.

Wellsford, in eastern Kiowa County, is the smallest incorporated city in Kansas. State enumeration figures for 1968 gave it a population of 18.

Hendrix, who serves as the Kiowa County election officer, contacted Mrs. McDonald under a law enacted in 1968. It states that each city in Kansas shall have an election in odd-numbered years. The law puts city elections under the jurisdiction of the county election officer.

Mrs. McDonald said the city could have exempted itself from the election by adopting a charter ordinance at least 60 days ahead of time, but it failed to do this.

She said county officials are looking into the possibility of having Wellsford disorganize as an incorporated city.

Still Seek Jurors For Sirhan Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In willful, deliberate, premeditated murder, would you favor the death penalty or life imprisonment? Would you be influenced by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's youth? By compassion for his mother?

With such questions, attorneys continue examining prospective alternate jurors at the trial of Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with gunfire last June.

The alternates will occupy chairs flanking the eight-man, four-woman jury sworn in Wednesday. They'll hear evidence along with the jury. An alternate will replace a regular juror only in an emergency—illness, say, or a death in the family—that forces him to leave the trial.

Four alternates were tentatively accepted by prosecution and defense after the jury was sworn in Wednesday.

One, Warren Willis, aircraft maintenance foreman for an airline, was challenged by the defense after he said he would favor the death penalty in first-degree murder. Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker disallowed the challenge after Willis told him he would first consider evidence in mitigation or aggravation. The defense said it didn't relinquish the challenge.

Also selected provisionally were Marshall Wolfe, power switchboard operator for the city Department of Water and Power; Georgia M. Liddle of suburban El Monte, wife of a mail carrier, and Ruth A. Stillman, insurance company adjuster.

Attorneys continued to predict it will be next week before six alternates are agreed on and testimony begins.

Sirhan seemed at times almost the least interested person in the courtroom. Sucking lozenges after a recent cold, he smiled broadly at his mother and two brothers, sitting in the rear row. As a prosecutor once mentioned to a prospective juror possible "death in the gas chamber" for Sirhan, the smiling defendant was whispering animatedly into the ear of his nearest lawyer.

Robbers Haul Mixed

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Police said they arrested a man for burglary and breaking and entering. Before they caught him, officers said, the man had broken a hot plate, a bookcase and the float in the water tank of a toilet. In his pockets were three toothbrushes, one scrub-brush, one bar of soap, one plastic comb, one can of scouring powder and a pair of curling irons.

President

ments, "make it possible" for some American troops to be relieved "they will be brought back."

Nixon will confer with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. negotiator in Paris, but has no plans to talk with South Vietnamese representatives unless Lodge recommends that. He does not expect to see representatives of either the Viet Cong or North Vietnam now but added: "perhaps at some later time."

On another foreign policy front Nixon declared, in following up an announcement here Wednesday, that "there will be four-power talks at the United Nations" on the Middle East crisis after preliminary discussions are held there by four-power representatives.

What the United States is doing, he said, is "assuming the initiative" in several ways in support of the United Nations efforts to achieve middle east peace settlement.

Nixon was asked whether there has been any lessening of the nuclear threat from Red China.

He said that the ABM, or "thin" ballistic missile defense system, was not designed only against a threat from Red China, but as a part of over-all defenses. He said he does not see any change in the Chinese threat, but that all aspects of defense are being considered.

Nixon said there has been no progress on arms control talks with the Soviet Union but the talks would be emphasized.

Nixon was asked about the proposed rule of the Federal Communications Commission against the radio-TV advertising of cigarettes.

"As a nonsmoker, it wouldn't pose any problems to me," Nixon replied. He said, however, the ruling has just been brought to his attention and he hadn't had time to study it.

Asked how he felt about Johnson administration tax proposals for the poor, Nixon said tax reform has been a matter of discussions, which have been widely publicized.

"We went over the agenda and timetable on when it (his proposal) should come down," he said, adding that the secretary of treasury would make a preliminary announcement Friday. He said, however, he did not want to make any announcement of details at this time.

On the questions of freedom of choice integration plans for schools, Nixon said such systems must be defined in terms of what they do. He said such a plan, if it is only a subterfuge, should be denied federal funds. If it advances desegregation, it should be supported, he said. The problem is difficult, he said, embracing a desire to keep the schools open and also to bring about desegregation.

"Before using the ultimate weapon of denying funds," he said, everything should be done to induce school authorities to comply with the law.

In its first major step in foreign affairs, the administration agreed Wednesday to a French proposal for four-power talks on the Middle East situation, but suggested the way be paved with preliminary discussions.

At the same time, Nixon called for quick Senate ratification of the long-pending nuclear nonproliferation treaty and repeated his inaugural promise of a policy toward Russia based on "negotiation rather than confrontation."

With Nixon's trip later this month to an expected five Western European countries still some weeks away, more details and more policy were expected, beginning with today's nationally televised news conference.

At his news conference last week Nixon laid down the principal that solving world political problems should be parallel to nuclear arms control and Wednesday's action was a move toward implementing it.

The White House also moved significantly in the domestic area Wednesday with its decision to remove all postmaster-ships from the political patronage system.

Nixon appeared in person before newsmen to announce the historic decision to end a practice almost as old as the Republic.

Nixon said parties out of power traditionally have been more likely to recommend the step, with the party in power and in control of patronage reluctant to move.

Adding that his surprise action redeemed a campaign pledge to take the deficit-ridden Postal department out of politics, Nixon said "this is the time, I believe, to bite that bullet."

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, the Southern millionaire brought into the administration to put the department on a paying, business-like basis, said henceforth the 1,600 postmaster vacancies that occur each year will go to the best qualified applicant without regard to party affiliation.

The White House also announced Wednesday it was ordering an immediate $10-million increase in outlays to colleges and universities by the National

Police Report

Mrs. Lee King, 1005 State Fair Boulevard, was taken to Bothwell Hospital after resuscitation was administered by Sedalia Firemen.

Firemen were called to Town House Manor at 5:04 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. King was reportedly overcome by smoke inhalation. She was treated at the hospital and released.

Officials listed the cause of the fire as smoking in bed. Damage was estimated at $100.

Ethel Morris, 1003 East 13th, reported to police someone took a bottle of deodorant from the above address about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Morris reported the above item missing after allowing two girls to use her phone when they told her they had had car trouble.

Vestry Members Named by Church

Mrs. James F. Labahn, Harold Painter, Neal O. Reyburn and George H. Scruton were elected three-year members of the Vestry of Calvary Episcopal church at the annual parish meeting in Hawkins Hall Wednesday night. They succeed Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, R.A. Fitzsimmon and Arthur Morgan.

Other members of the Vestry are: Henry Salver, Harry Walch, Gene Logan, William Lewis, Mrs. H.B. Potts, Mrs. James Eschbacher, Douglas Kneibert and Dr. William C. Garton.

A reorganization meeting of the Vestry will be held in Hawkins Hall Tuesday evening, February 11, according to the Rev. William E. Lusk, rector.

Science Foundation, thus wiping out big cuts made by Johnson.

The quartet of major decisions in the foreign and domestic fields were announced after Nixon met at the White House Wednesday with Republican congressional leaders.

The GOP leaders said afterward that Nixon plans to send to Congress by mid-February special messages calling for tax and electoral reform.

After the White House urged quick action on the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee slated hearings for Feb. 18 and said the document should reach the floor by the end of the month.

The Arkansas Democrat hailed Nixon's action, and said he was especially pleased with the presidential emphasis on negotiation rather than confrontation.

Accidents

One person complained of apparently minor injuries as the result of a truck-motorcycle accident at the intersection of 16th and Kentucky at 3:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1968 Honda motorcycle driven west on 16th by Anthony Edward Gilliam, 16, 1307 West Third, and a 1966 Ford truck driven by Sidney Carter Luvlin, 65, Route 2, Stover.

Gilliam complained of bruises and abrasions to both knees but elected to seek medical attention on his own.

The front of the cycle and the left front of the truck were damaged in the collision.

A two-car accident occurred on the Thompson Hills Shopping Center parking lot at 5:22 p. m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Oliver Clay Renfrow, 60, Ionia, and a 1959 Ford driven east on the lot by Pamela Sue Masterson, 18, 1600 South Kentucky.

Damage was to the right front of the Ford.

Will Probe Deeply In Shaw Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison told an intent jury at the Clay Shaw trial today that, though his jurisdiction may be limited, no part of President John F. Kennedy's assassination "will be regarded in Louisiana as being above the law."

The 6-foot-6 district attorney thus served notice to Shaw's defense that the trial would not be limited to the narrow legal issue of conspiracy—but would involve the actual assassination itself.

Leaning casually against the railing around the witness chair, Garrison read a 15-page opening statement which gave a general blueprint of the prosecution's claim that conspirators—including Shaw—plotted to assassinate the President.

As generally outlined, the case roughly paralleled testimony given at a 1967 preliminary hearing for Shaw. At that hearing the key witness was Perry Raymond Russo. Russo testified that, after his memory was refreshed by a hypnotist, he remembered vivid details of a party where he overheard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David Ferrie plotting to kill the President.

As for the assassination itself, Garrison said he would produce evidence and witnesses backing his claim that shots were fired at the president from more than one direction by more than one person.

Before Garrison's opening statement, Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. of Criminal District Court rejected a defense plea that he guarantee full protection for a reluctant witness.

Chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond said Mrs. Harold Moffett McMaines, 24, of Des Moines, Iowa, was an essential witness but was in hiding to avoid a subpoena.

The prosecution objected, saying such an order would go outside the law.

Dymond said Mrs. McMaines, a former girl friend of a key prosecution witness, refuses to come here to testify. Haggerty was asked to guarantee her "immunity from prosecution during her presence as a witness."

Garrison has accused Shaw, 55, a big, gray haired, chain-smoking retired New Orleans businessman, with conspiring with Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

The conspiracy was hatched in New Orleans, Garrison claims, a few weeks before the President was slain in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, was named as the assassin by the Warren Commission. The report also said there was no credible evidence of a conspiracy.

Making Out Your Will Is a Solemn Occasion

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There are few rites on earth more solemn than making out a last will and testament.

Everybody keeps warning you that you should do it, and sooner or later most people do. Here's how it sometimes operates.

You go into the law firm of Zircorn, Samilovitch, O'Brannigan and Smuggles and tell the receptionist you want to make out your will. She casts a dubious look at your frayed collar and scuffed shoes and suggests you see Mr. Smuggles.

Smuggles, it turns out, is the junior member of the firm—the son-in-law of Mr. Zircorn—and the ink on his law degree is still somewhat damp.

"Who would you like to serve as your executor?" asks Smuggles. When you suggest that he will do just fine, he smiles like three Cheshire cats. He pulls out a pad of large yellow paper and starts putting down the data.

"Do you own any real estate?" "Yeah, a cemetery lot."

"Well," says Smuggles tactfully, "perhaps you'll want to save that for yourself. Any bonds?"

"Nope."

"Any stock market investments?"

"Nope."

"What value do you place on your home?"

"You'll have to ask my landlord. It belongs to him."

"I see," says Smuggles, his smile beginning to fade. "How about your insurance?"

"Oh, that's already made out to mother. I think that's only fair, seeing as how she's been making the payments on it herself the last five years."

"H-m-m-m. Do you have any valuable collections of any kind?"

"You mean those seashells I picked up at Coney Island, or the collection of knots I keep in the basement which I tied when

Pueblo's Crew Loyal To Skipper

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Junior officers from the USS Pueblo facing five admirals on a court of inquiry have declared support for their skipper. One said, "I'd follow him anywhere."

The statement came with determination from 21-year-old, freckle-faced Lt. j.g. Timothy Harris, one of three officers who testified Wednesday. He called Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher "an outstanding leader."

"I personally think Cmdr. Bucher is one of the finest officers I know—an outstanding skipper before and during the capture and certainly during detention," said Lt. Frederick Schumacher Jr.

"I don't think any of us could have made it through that eleven months in North Korean prison if it hadn't been for Cmdr. Bucher."

CWO Gene Howard Lacy said he agreed with Bucher's decision not to man the Pueblo's machine guns because "it would have been slaughter for anyone put out there."

"I am now going to ask you for your personal opinion," said Bucher's attorney, E. Miles Harvey. "Based on your experience and what you saw immediately prior to the time of capture, in your opinion did the commanding officer of the ship any longer have the power to resist the boarding and ultimate seizure?"

"No," said Lacy, 38, whose gray-streaked hair reflected his prison ordeal and an 11-year Navy career including duty in the Arctic. It contrasted sharply with Harris' boyish face and 25-year-old Schumacher's tow-headed mop.

Harris and Schumacher also supported the surrender decision.

Several members of the crew were summoned to testify today, including Quartermaster I.C. Charles B. Law of Chehalis, Wash., who took some of the severest beatings during captivity.

Dispute Claim That Teachers Carry Weapons

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—School officials disputed a claim Wednesday that three out of four teachers in the city's troubled public school system carry guns to class in self defense.

But the assertion, made by School Board President Charles Merritts, did trigger a chorus of agreement on the system's "pathetic situation."

Merritts said teachers "carry guns for their own protection from students, outsiders, militants and even in some case from parents."

"This doesn't apply just to East St. Louis schools," Merritts continued. "I know in my own mind it is going on in other schools where you have problems with militants. It's a pathetic situation, but it's become a way of life."

Gus Stacker, chief investigator for State's Attorney Robert Rice, called on Merritts to "pin-point" persons carrying weapons. Stacker said a voluntary check of teachers at Lincoln High failed to turn up any weapons.

Merritts responded that he did not know of the gun carrying on an official basis, merely "as a person."

Elmo Bush, recently named principal of the predominantly Negro Lincoln High, also disputed Merritts' arithmetic, but added: I think certainly that 75 per cent of the teachers will quickly agree, especially in the secondary schools, that they have a great need for personal protection and the protection of their students from persons from outside the schools."

"Society, in terms of government agencies, has not been able to secure these schools against incidents," Bush said.

College

12 students in conversational Spanish; 26 in general education development; 22 enrolled in adult basic education; 20 in apprenticeship; 15 in general insurance; and 26 taking an agriculture extension course.

Out of the 233 students who expect to transfer to other colleges at the conclusion of two years of credit earned at State Fair Community College, only 30 are sophomores or second year students.

"When one analyzes the fact the freshmen this year on campus will be sophomores next Fall — and there is already indication we will have a large freshmen class enrolling during the 1969-70 terms — our enrollment in our second full year of operations will probably be very high," Davis said.

Geographically, the student body at the junior college is representative of a large segment of the actual college district. There are 58 students from out-district or out of state. These include students from as far away as Greensboro, N.C., Beaumont, Tex.; Topeka and Shawnee, Kan.; and St. Louis County. There are 275 college credit students from Pettis and Benton counties.

Measures Approved By Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Senate passed and sent to the House the first bill of the new session Tuesday—one that would add three more long holiday weekends by setting some holidays on Monday instead of calendar dates.

The House received two dozen new bills including one to have the state provide textbooks for private and parochial schools and another to establish a broad open housing law.

Rep. Tom Ryan, D - Kansas City, introduced the textbook bill to solve one of the most pressing problems of private schools. A fiscal note said the plan would cost the state about $1.6 million a year.

Many parochial schools have announced plans to close their doors if financial aid doesn't come from the state or federal government or some other source.

The Senate bill sent to the House would put Missouri's holiday schedule in line with changes under a 1967 federal law.

Washington's birthday would be observed on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May,

Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October and Columbus Day on the second Monday in October.

With Labor Day, traditionally the first Monday in September, that would give Missourians a minimum of four long holiday weekends.

Among the latest House bills and constitutional amendments were ones to:

Repeal an old law making it a misdemeanor for minors to smoke in public.

Raise the 5 cents a gallon motor fuel tax to 7 cents.

Transfer property in Kansas

City to the state to provide for the Western Missouri Mental Health Center.

Let 18-year-olds handle liquor in package stores or as waiters in places where food constitutes 55 per cent of the business.

Stagger motor vehicle registration throughout the year.

Make land surveying a professional service.

Set up a reclamation commission in the Division of Mining to help see that worked out strip mine areas are put back in some usable condition.

Establish a broad open hous-

IN THE NEWS

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Was Tabby a male or female? The owners said it was a female and they weren't going to pay the veterinarian $233 for boarding and fixing the broken leg of a male cat that wasn't theirs.

The dispute was resolved in a local justice of the peace court where Magistrate Kathryn

The Sedalia Democrat, Thurs., February 6, 1969—5

Mautz ruled the feline before her was a female, and the owners must pay a compromise bill of $173.

Even "experts," declared the judge, sometimes make mistakes when it comes to determining the sex of cats.

Miss Browne is Bride Of Dwayne L. Steele

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne L. Steele

The First Baptist Church, Marshall, was the scene of the Jan. 4 ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Deborah Deane Browne and Dwayne Lee Steele.

Ivory toned mums and pompons flanked by nine branch candelabra filled with gold candles and accented with lemon leaf greenery and gold velvet bows graced the altar for the 2 p.m. service.

The Rev. William F. Pinkerton and the Rev. Gail Zimmerman, both from Marshall, performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Browne, Jr., Marshall, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Steele, 1320 South Murray, Sedalia.

Mrs. Travis Bullington, Marshall, organist, played the bridal chorus as guests were seated by Terry Stanfield, Marshall, Ralph Strader and Steve Madorin.

Candles were lighted by Dennis Steele, brother of the groom and Kim Duncan, Marshall, niece of the bride.

Miss Diana Bullington and Dwight Hartwick, Marshall, sang, "One Hand, One Heart," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ivory gown of velour brocade fashioned with an empire waist, chapel train, wedding ring neckline edged in pearls, and elbow length sleeves.

Her bouffant veil fell from a double crown of seed pearls and drop crystals and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses with leather leaf fern accented with gold velvet bow.

Miss Marsha Donnell, Marshall, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Thompson, Eldon and Miss Shirley Lynch, Marshall. The attendants were identically attired in topaz gold velvet gowns with contrasting gold satin trim. Each girl carried a ball of boxwood greenery, interspersed with gold champagne carnations and rust pompons.

Kris Duncan, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a rust colored velvet dress with contrasting gold satin trim. She carried a white basket and scattered white rose petals. Her corsage was champagne carnations with gold velvet leaves.

Warren Yates, cousin of the bride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Yates, Marshall, was ringbearer.

Lynn Middleton served as best man and groomsmen were Larry Epperson and Mike Kennedy, Butler, brother-in-law of the groom.

For the wedding, Mrs. Browne selected a three-piece celery green wool suit with brown accessories. The groom's mother wore a gold wool dress with black patent accessories. Both wore corsages of gold cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Marshall Inn. Mrs. Jim Hieronymus, sister of the bride, and Miss Helen Stephenson, Marshall, served the cake. Miss Leslie Phillips, Marshall, poured the punch. Mrs. Allen Kennedy, Marshall, registered guests and the gift table was attended by Mrs. Garry La Rose and Miss Sarah Lile, both of Marshall.

The couple live in Sedalia, where the groom is associated with his father in the Kenneth Steele Construction Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Steele, parents of the groom, hosted the rehearsal dinner Jan. 3 at the Marshall Inn.

Miss Browne was feted with several showers by her roommate and friends at Southwest Missouri State College, by Mrs. Richard Middleton, Sedalia; Miss Marsha Donnell, Mrs. Roy Donnell and Mrs. Cheryl McLaughlin, Marshall; and Mrs. Shirley Lynch and Mrs. William Lynch, Marshall.

Mixed Reactions To FCC Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission's plan to sweep all cigarette advertising off radio and television—if it gets the authority—has drawn strong criticism from the tobacco and broadcasting industries, but was welcomed by the American Cancer Society.

FCC Chairman Rosel H. Hyde Wednesday announced the agency's 6 to 1 decision to issue a "notice of proposed rule making" as the first step toward the ban.

The FCC, however, can take no action before June 30, when a 1965 law forbidding new regulations is scheduled to expire.

The Tobacco Institute, the National Association of Broadcasters, tobacco-state congressmen and the one dissenting commissioner, James J. Wadsworth, criticized the action. The broadcast networks declined immediate comment.

In New York the cancer society—a long-time crusader against cigarette smoking—issued a statement welcoming the proposal and expressing hope broadcasters would accept the recommendation.

The Tobacco Institute called the announcement "an obvious threat to usurp the congressional function," and said a ban would be arbitrary and extreme.

Hyde told a news conference there would be only two things that might cause to reconsider a complete ban: The broadcasters could omit the advertisements voluntarily, or the FCC might approve advertising of low-tar-low-nicotine cigarettes.

He made clear, however, the emphasis of the commission's thinking is on a complete ban. The FCC has given interested parties until May 6 to comment, and until July 7 to reply to others' comments. It promised it would not act before considering all comment.

Hyde cited figures reported by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicating that lung cancer claims about 50,000 lives each year and emphysema and chronic bronchitis another 25,000.

All of these diseases, he said, are related to cigarette smoking. The tobacco industry has contended—since the U.S. surgeon general claimed such a link in 1964—that cigarette smoking was never scientifically proven to cause lung ailments.

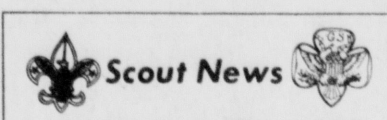

But the FCC proposal, accepting the supposed link, said, "it would thus appear wholly at odds with the public interest for broadcasters to present advertising promoting the consumption of the product posing this unique danger—a danger measured in terms of an epidemic of deaths and disabilities."

Tobacco firms currently pour $226.9 million a year into radio and television commercials—about 75 per cent of their advertising budget and 10 per cent of the broadcasters' revenue. Hyde denied that the FCC proposal amounted to censorship.

"I don't believe the First Amendment precludes the commission from prohibiting advertising which would cause the deaths of individuals in the numbers presented here," he said.

One of its aims, Hyde specified, was to "give notice what action can be expected if Congress does not provide guidelines."

Three Scout troops from Washington School and another from Jefferson School will take part in a camp fire ceremony at Centennial Park from 8 to 9 p.m. Friday.

The public is invited to participate in the program, Scout Master Cliff Rigby said.

Iron in Foods

When you see the amount of iron that you need each day, it doesn't look like much. It won't actually "fit on a pin head," but it would come pretty close. This seems like such a small amount that it has little importance. However, this is a case of "a little means a lot" — or an example of "important things come in small packages."

Small as this amount of iron is, it is of major importance. It is necessary in the formation of red corpuscles in our blood. These red corpuscles carry oxygen to all parts of the body. This oxygen helps provide the necessary energy for our life processes. Laboratory rats which have not had sufficient iron do not have the characteristic pink ears and tail. They also do not attain the weight of rats of a normal diet.

The foods containing iron are many and varied. One egg will give you about one-tenth the amount you need for the day. Other foods that give about this same amount include fish, broccoli, greens, both Irish and sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Perhaps the potatoes are a surprise. Often we think of potatoes as only a starchy food, but as we see from this list, they make other contributions.

A pork chop would give you about one-third of the amount of iron you need each day. Other foods in this group are beef, beef and vegetable stew, white beans with tomato sauce, lima beans and apricots. The lean beef would include ground beef or the ever popular "hamburger." Most of the foods in this group are of the protein group. This is one reason why the Daily Food Guide recommends two or more servings of meat, eggs or dried peas, beans or nuts.

Chili, another popular American dish, provides about half the amount of iron needed daily. So would liver or heart. Dried peaches are one of the best sources, and so is prune juice.

Meats, eggs, fruits and vegetables are all represented on this list. This is another example of the reason for a varied diet with foods from each of the four food groups included.

Vitamin C which we get from citrus fruits such as oranges, grapefruit and lemons or tomatoes, melons, cabbage, raw greens and strawberries work with the iron you eat. If your food has some vitamin C in it, the iron is used better by the body. This is another example of food nutrients working together with one improving the use of another.

Stretching your Dollars

Do pennies count? When you are shopping for food, there is no doubt about it. Three to four cents off on a 25-cent can of beans, for example, is a 10 to 15 per cent savings. Not bad for just a few pennies. Applying this kind of shopping sense — plus the other shopping tips offered in this booklet — could save you as much as $5 on a $30 weekly bag of groceries. At the end of a month, that's an extra $20 in your pocket.

Get out the cookbooks, watch newspapers, magazines, and television for new recipe ideas, unusual casseroles, or recipes using old favorites in new ways. You can cut your food bill 20 per cent by using lower-priced items in your menus.

Shop the ads. Shop the specials. Shop the stores. Check ads particularly for meat, poultry and fish on special. Plan your meals accordingly. These items can amount to a third of your family's food bill.

Make a List — plan your menus with an eye on the ads. Make a list of the foods you will need.

Then stick to the list, but be open minded should you spot an unadvertised bargain.

Shop alone if you can. You will be able to concentrate better. And besides, Dad and the kids tend to run up the food bill.

Compare the brands — Try the lower prices, grades and brands. You may like them as well as more expensive items.

Some stores carry as many as six different brands of canned green beans with prices sometimes varying considerably. While quality and cut may differ, nutritional values vary little.

By looking for lowest priced brands in one store, you can save — for example — 5 to 7 cents on a 6-ounce can of frozen orange juice, a nickel on a can of peas, as much as 20 cents a pound on bacon.

Buy in quantity when there is a sale and if you have checked to see that it's a good buy.

But be careful! Buy only what you need and can use. It's not a bargain if the food is wasted or spoils before you can use it.

Buy the large can or package only if it fits your family's needs — and you have a proper place to store it.

Figure the cost per ounce, per pound, per serving. Cornflakes — for example — range from two cents an ounce in the large box to four cents an ounce in the individual packs.

Check convenience cost — Chances are the partially prepared items will cost you more than the fresh. But not always. Some convenience foods, like frozen concentrated orange juice, frozen green peas, canned orange juice and fruit cocktail, and some cake mixes, are often cheaper than their fresh counterparts.

Other convenience foods, like frozen corn on the cob, stuffed baked potatoes, cheese in a spray can and frozen dinners, usually cost you more.

BUT — if time is short, you may be willing to pay the cost of convenience. Just remember the choice you are making.

Boy Scout Week Observances Scheduled By Officials Here

Louis Hughes, Jr., president of the Lake of the Ozarks Council, has announced that Boy Scout week will be observed Feb. 7-13. Gordon Buckner, district chairman, announced the appointment of Charles O. Barnett as chairman of Scout Week activities for the Twin Forks District.

Scout Week is observed nationally by the Boy Scouts of America. Some of the activities in the various Scout units which center around Scout Week are blue and gold banquets, father and son dinners, courts of honor, window displays and outside displays of Scouting skills.

In Sedalia, the activities for Scout Week will begin with a flag-raising ceremony in front of the Pettis County courthouse at 10 a.m. Saturday. All Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers are asked to attend in uniform for this event. Dr. Robert Edmonds and Dr. James Burkeholder are co-chairmen of the ceremony, with Joe Wright in charge of Scout unit participation. Mayor Ralph Walker has signed a Scout Week proclamation.

The Pettis County Court also signed a proclamation for Scout Week, according to Nelson Nix, chairman of the public relations committee, and joint proclamations were signed by the Saline County Court and the mayors of Sweet Springs, Marshall and Slater.

Also on Saturday the council basketball tournament will be held at the Sacred Heart School gym. Explorer Scouts from Owensville, Jefferson City, Tipton, Camdenton, Sedalia, and Marshall will be entered in the tournament. On Sunday many Scout units will attend church services in uniform in observance of Scout Sunday.

Feb. 10, has been designated as Scout Uniform Day, with the Scouts wearing their uniforms to school.

Dennis Onwiler, in co-operation with Mrs. Van Horn of the Smith-Cotton speech department, will operate a speakers bureau in Sedalia. Any organization wishing a Scouting program for their meeting during the month of February may contact Onwiler.

The Lake of the Ozarks Council is a participating agency of the Pettis County United Fund.

If at First You Don't . . .

Short time should elapse before smoke of the battle of ballots on the junior high school bond election dissipates.

Nipped on the ankles Tuesday, Sedalia school authorities had better buy a big bottle of tincture of merthiolate because nipping on the local level may be just a beginning.

Adequate classroom accommodations and required kindergarten facilities must be provided else the State Board of Education may come in barking about Sedalia's lack of status educationally to qualify for AAA rating. Then there is that other problem of moving faster on integration to avoid the Human Rights Commission baring its fangs.

Moreover, there is that 20-acre tract of land donated by the Thompsons who can't be expected to hold their offer in abeyance indefinitely since the voters disapproved building a school on the property.

Perplexitives in the extreme, as Shakespeare would declare.

But let it be remembered that the Junior high school project is not a dead issue. It must not be allowed to expire. What is needed is some mouth to mouth resuscitation. Lines of communication between school officials and the taxpayers who dissented primarily for reasons of site location and other objections must be reestablished.

On matters of vital interest to the progress of our community, such as a revived Junior High project as well as others impending, Sedalians must respond collectively not as East Sedalians, West Sedalians, North Sedalians, South Sedalians, white Sedalians or black Sedalians. Let us collaborate and build for the future and discourage the tendency to become sectional either by boundary lines or color lines. We have come too far to fall back on such uncivilized nonsense.

The lost election Tuesday becomes past history, so the sooner we get down to the business or reassessing the reasons for defeat of the bond issue, and reevaluating the Junior high project, the sooner modifications can be implemented that will have greater appeal to enough taxpayers to accomplish the objective next time. Delay has too many hazards.

There is no insoluble problem about expansion of Sedalia's school system. All we need is collective effort to meet the needs of a growing community, encouraged, of course, by frank and open discussion of all or any substantial objections, not hearsay.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Crime Feeds on Broken Families

DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his grandson, Joseph P. Arnold.)

Washington, D.C.
Feb. 5, 1969

Dear Joe:

President Nixon last week scored a big hit with people in the nation's capital by announcing a program to combat crime. It scored an especially big hit with Negro residents, because the great majority of Negroes are honest and law-abiding and they are the chief sufferers from robberies and holdups by their own people.

Margaret Brown has been so worried about the many holdups in her neighborhood that she has been frightened to go home at night even though we send her by taxi. Negroes would have even been glad if the President had declared martial law in the District of Columbia.

Actually there wasn't anything really new in Nixon's crime remedies. They were very similar to the earlier recommendations of the D.C. Crime Commission which Attorney General Ramsey Clark had been trying to put through a budget-pruning Congress for months.

But the fact that a new president got behind these proposals and made them his own is important, because a new broom sweeps clean and Congress will now almost certainly have to appropriate the money even if it does go over the budget ceiling to pay for 10 more judges, 40 more prosecutors, 1,000 more policemen, various court functionaries, etc.

All of these are important, and President Nixon was wise enough to call the editors of the local Washington newspapers into his office to announce the anti-crime program, which gave it added emphasis.

— The Family —

But Nixon's anti-crime proposals were chiefly protective, rather than preventive, and there were two very important preventive proposals which he did not touch upon. One of them was something no president can do much about — the broken family. The other was something no president has dared do anything about — crime and violence on television. No president so far has admonished the all-powerful tv networks regarding the Shameful manner in which they are inspiring crime and violence among the nation's children.

Both of these things — the family and television — are probably the most important factors in generating crime.

As you know, your grandfather has been chairman of big brothers in the national Capitol area for about 10 years, and it's our job to try to supply Big Brother advisers for fatherless boys. We find, and all the experts find, that if a boy or girl has a good family, they usually stay out of trouble. It makes no difference how poor they are, or what kind of housing they have or how bad the neighborhood, children can grow up to be fine children — if they have a good father and mother.

The lower east side of New York used to be one of the slums of the nation where lived Jewish immigrants who could hardly speak English. But they understood the importance of family love and discipline and their children have now become some of the outstanding citizens of New York and the nation.

As I said, President Nixon can't do much about families. But the rest of us can, first within our own families, second by helping other youngsters on the verge of trouble.

— Influence of TV —

Especially the law-abiding Negro families need to help the thousands of fatherless, illegitimate Negro children born in Washington and every big northern city. This is because Negro women come up from the South and find themselves in northern cities without family ties, without church influence or the stabilizing contacts of their former community. So they fall back on the easiest way to make a living and increase the population with "welfare babies" who grow up, many of them, to make a living through muggings and robbery.

They sit in front of television all day watching the number of shootings on the top-rated programs, and the TV commercials which tell you that you don't have to pay for a vacation trip to Florida — you can go now and pay later. So these fatherless boys and girls figure they can take a short cut to joining the affluent society by using the crime and violence techniques they see on television.

There are two remedies for this. One easy one is to regulate TV programs exactly as they are regulated in France, England, Germany and every other civilized country.

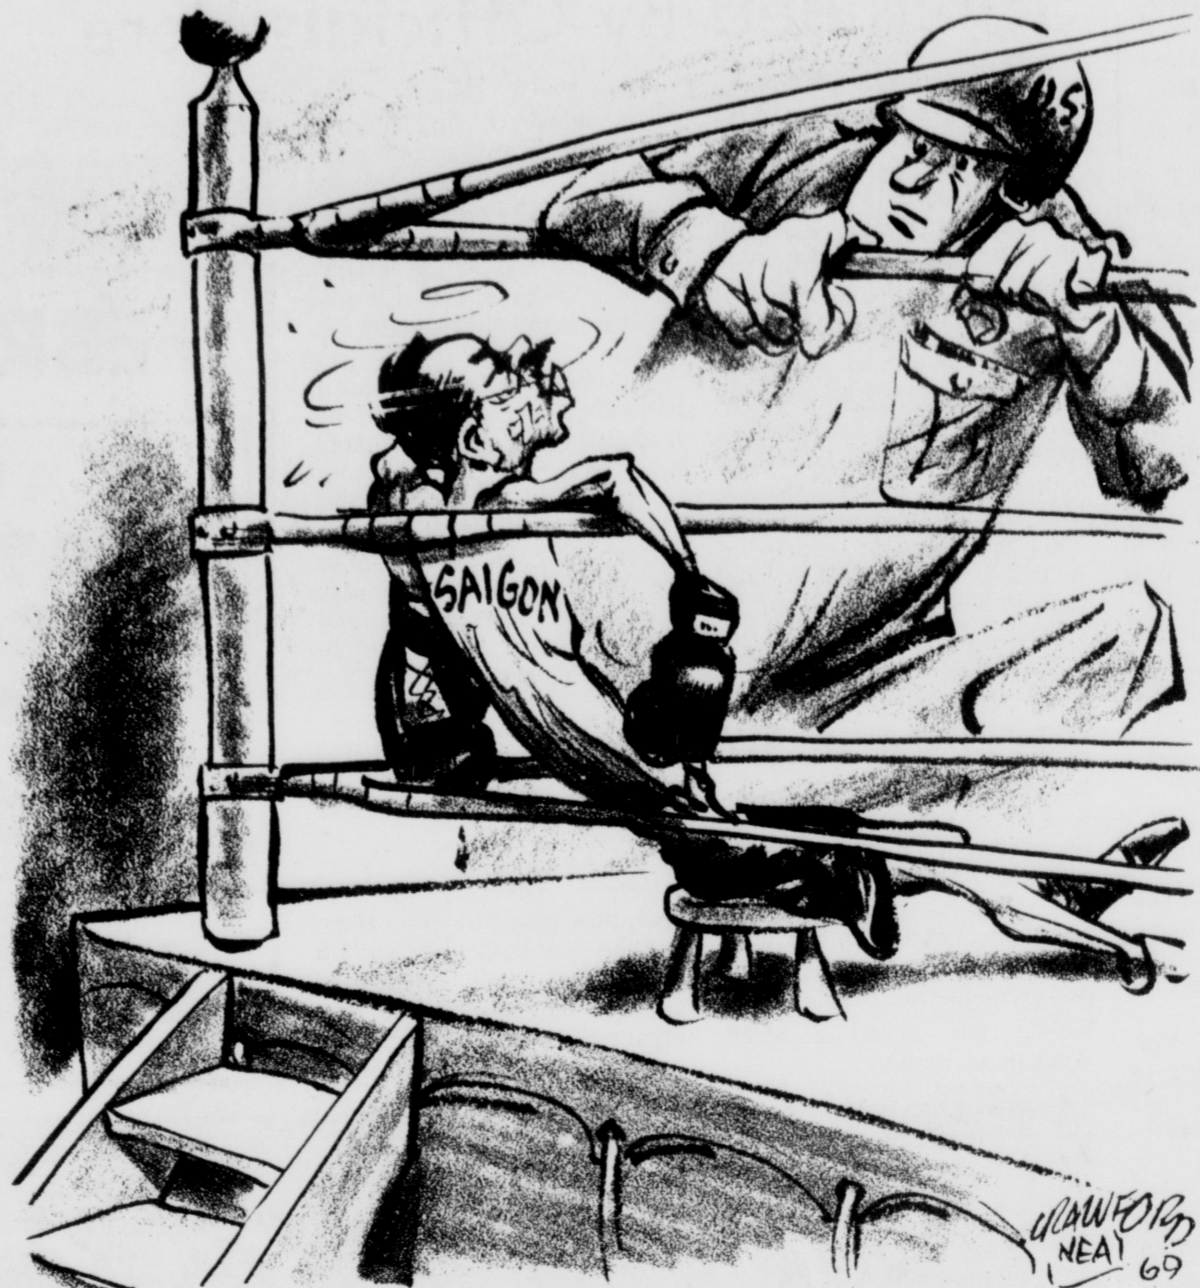

The other remedy is to revive the old civilian conservation corps of Franklin Roosevelt's day in order to get teenagers off the streets and put them to work in national or state parks, or rural areas where they can drain swamps, build dams, clear underbrush, clean up dumps, learn new skills and get straightened out in a new environment.

This will not be easy and it will cost money. But it's better than having thousands of idle teenagers cluttering up the pool halls and making the streets unsafe after dark. No matter how many police we hire or how many jails we build, they cannot solve the problem. While President Nixon has made a good start toward decreasing crime and he should be congratulated, we have to go one long step further from community protection to crime prevention.

I hope you are studying hard and not spending your weekends watching crime and violence on television.

Love,
Your Grandfather

But Stick Around!"

Anticipation Can Prevent Wars' Inflationary Surges

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

In the build-ups of World War II, Korea and Vietnam, the surge in demand for products and the manpower needed to produce them caused rapid price gains in a wide variety of products.

In each case, this spread into general inflation. If employment is high and surpluses and inventories are low at the start of such a crisis, economists say the competition for labor and goods is certain to force wages and prices up across the board.

Historically, the labor problem was solved in part by "Rosie the riveter" and by drawing more men off the farms. These solutions are less workable today—with the farm population at a low level and with a higher percentage of women working than in the past.

Thus, in any future crises it will be impossible, of course, to automate or otherwise modernize overnight industries and farms which will be asked to rapidly increase output and therefore quickly require numbers of additional workers.

However, industries and farms which have been heavily mechanized or automated, with a strong emphasis on streamlined techniques, can more easily and more rapidly expand production than their less-modernized associates. They can accomplish production step-ups with smaller increases in labor.

But with all this, a substantial call on men, materiel and food, as in World War II, Korea and Vietnam could not be met with modernization alone.

Improved standby plans would be required for future emergencies:

- A growing pool of retired men and women, still "young" by modern standards. Many of these retirees are talented and well-trained. Prudence would suggest that, like scientists, they, their skills and availability be catalogued for emergencies. They could be an industrial reserve, as it were. Many in this group undoubtedly would be willing to undergo brush-up training from time to time.

- A pool of teen-agers of talent not employed these days, some because of the restrictions of child labor laws and some because of the middle-class affluence of their parents. These youngsters should be identified and their skills noted. Of course, turnover would be rapid in this group.

- This stockpiling of people should be paralleled by a revised stockpiling of materials. There are huge stockpiles in existence as a result of a program expanded after World War II. But these reserves of 77 items, from aluminum and copper to titanium and lead, are part of an inventory that was designed to insure that military and other essential government operations will have the raw materials needed in war. The stocks are not aimed at providing the additional cushion required to prevent unstabilizing war-caused inflation. Witness the rapid rise of prices in the Korean war.

Need exists, in addition, for well-designed food stockpiles, with a rapid turnover to prevent deterioration.

The Department of Defense must review more thoroughly its own inventory of equipment and spare parts and its standby contracts with producers to determine whether these inventories and contracts are adequate to meet required wartime build-ups with a minimum of strain on the economy. From the data now available it is not clear that they are.

"I just don't think you can simply dismiss Hayakawa as an 'Uncle Tom'!"

BETTY CANARY

Nix on the 'Trip' Drugs

Most of us would hope to attain the acme of tolerance. That is, to be intolerant only of intolerance. Now I know I most certainly shall never achieve the heights. Because I have just been talking with a beautiful young girl who only two short years ago had everything going for her. That was before she started smoking reefer (marijuana) or got hooked on hashish, during a trip to India. Now her only interest in life is drugs.

It brought out my intolerance for drug pushers and also for the so-called "open-minded" attitude toward drugs.

For those now prepared to tell me, "being high on marijuana is no worse than being drunk on alcohol," all I can say is, a fractured skull may be no worse than a broken back and which of these do you recommend?

As for the conflict of opinion on the effects of marijuana, there has not been enough research done to prove one way or another whether it is a habituating substance (such as whisky and cigarettes) or an addicting one. Neither is there enough medical evidence in to prove whether or not marijuana damages brain cells or leads to the use of harder drugs. Until there is, I take the gloomy view.

In the event that you have been slightly baffled about the various drugs, the following might help you sort them out. There are others, peyote, for one, but the following are those most often in the news. A medical symposium titled "Speed Kills" held at the University of California, for example, did not refer to automobile accidents. Speed is a stimulant that, according to the medical doctor with whom I talked, is easy to get and is available in not only trademarked versions but also in black market (usually impure) form.

Speed—Dexedrine and Methedrine—causes one to become irrational and violent and in large doses can produce psychosis. It is widely used.

LSD: The number of those "dropping acid" has dropped as more has been discovered about the hazards involved. In some cases severe mental illness has resulted from using LSD. Perhaps the biggest danger is a genetic one caused by damage to chromosomes.

Pot: Another name for marijuana. Also called tea and grass. It's not hard to find (some are harvesting their own hemp plants—particularly in the Midwest where hemp now grows wild in fields where it was once grown as a crop for the manufacture of rope). Pot turns one passive and introspective.

THC: Sniffing this powder which contains the active drug in hemp is the way to really bomb, according to those who say they have used it. In actuality, there are probably few who have used it because obtaining it is supposed to be difficult.

Hashish: Called hash by those in the know. Very expensive and not easily obtained in the United States. It is the pure resin from the hemp plant.

Heroin: The real hard stuff and literally the end of the line. If you have any doubts about this, a visit to the U. S. Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky., should clear them up for you. My source says that, relatively speaking, few kids are on heroin and the problems still remains essentially a problem of city slum areas.

The Working Cabinet

By CYRENE DEAR

(This is the fifth in the series of profiles on President Nixon's "Working Cabinet.")

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Robert Hutchinson Finch, a Nixon friend and confidant, former Lieutenant Governor of California, could have had any cabinet post he wanted. He chose Health, Education and Welfare. He is 43 years old, the youngest cabinet member, and is a breezy westerner of whom everyone speaks well. Some people think of the rugged 6-foot Californian as Richard Nixon's Bobby Kennedy, which idea was suggested when he spearheaded Nixon's 1960 campaign.

Finch is called a pragmatist and a humanitarian. Both characteristics are needed in heading the second largest department, with a current $48.2 budget. He regards his new office as dealing primarily with the disadvantaged. His predecessors have been social and urban oriented professionals and Finch has depended greatly on their advice. Speaking of Negroes he says: "We've got to give these people a chance for integrity, independence and pride in what they are and what they do." He wants the base of education broadened and he is a great believer in what he calls "opening up the opportunity" system.

He does not intend to do a clean sweep in H.E.W. because the responsibilities are so varied and funds are already allocated for specific purposes so that it will be difficult to make immediate drastic changes.

The Secretary admits that he will have to depend on professional advice in the offices of the Food and Drug Administration and that of Surgeon General. He says it will take at least six months for him to familiarize himself with all the departments within the Department.

While Finch has very little in-depth knowledge of the government's vast health, welfare and educational programs, he is on record as favoring some sort of universal compulsory health insurance for everyone.

As an administrator, he has a reputation for being able to unite disparate elements. In any kind of game or job he wants to win. In H.E.W. he wants to do the job and he wants to do it well. He is married to the former Carol Crutcher who helped to put him through University of Southern California Law School. They have four children, three daughters and one son.

Finch's assistant will be Patricia Hitt, who was a prominent worker in the Nixon campaign. She will be in charge of Consumer Affairs and is especially interested in recruitment of volunteers solving community affairs.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Approximately 30 tons of waste paper were collected in less than four hours Sunday afternoon, according to reports from L.N. Richardson, chairman of the works and facilities committee of the Pettis County Council of Defense. Over 150 Boy Scouts, 35 high school boys and 50 trucks worked together collecting paper, the sale of which amounted to $303.65 and will be used for the Scouts' program. Elmer Herrmann, city engineer, acted as chief dispatcher assisted by Miss Georgia Giokaris, F.A. Boysen, August Dick, Robert Brown, Benny Rumsey and L.W. Richardson.

FORTY YEARS AGO

In addition to returning ten indictments, the Pettis County Grand jury among other activities and recommendations reported to the circuit judge that the county jail was found in an almost unspeakable condition and that a new jail should be built.

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

We think that justice to the southern portion of the city demands that there should be a new fire company organized in the neighborhood of Broadway, and one hose cart given to that locality. The city has two and keeps them both in the bottoms at the engine house, hence when there is a fire on Broadway or beyond, the firemen have to haul the cart a half mile up hill, and the time thus consumed is often fatal to the burning building. City council should organize a fire company as above indicated.

Guest Editorials

TULSA TRIBUNE: Heartbreak Heaven. — President Kennedy is said to have grumbled that it's easier to be elected president than it is for a president to have his orders carried out. His disenchantment with the State Department bureaucracy led him to create his "little state department" in the White House.

President Johnson knows how President Kennedy felt. Mr. Johnson used the weight of his office to put the heat on private industry to hold the line on prices and wages and ordered federal agencies to do likewise.

His blasts at the auto industry probably had a lot to do with holding down price increases on 1969 models. But while he was winning on that front, the United States Department of Labor was setting minimum wages on four federal housing projects in Washington at rates significantly higher than those being paid on comparable private residential projects in the area. The difference, according to the General Accounting Office, cost taxpayers 1.4 million dollars.

As Richard Nixon will learn, it matters little how loudly a president shouts his orders. By the time they reverberate through the bureaucracy, they are whispers.

What is needed is a presidential expediter in every government agency — a fellow with the lungs of a Marine drill instructor, the stubbornness of a mule, and a kick to match it.

Virginia ranks third among states of the Union in production of sweet potatoes.

Lawmakers Receive Big Pay Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional pay boost that goes into effect next week will provide a $42,500 yearly salary to Capitol Hill lawmakers already comforted by extensive fringe benefits ranging from liberal travel allowances to free haircuts for senators.

The only fringe benefit affected by the change are pensions figured on length of service and a percentage of pay.

Since salaries are going up $12,500 a year, pensions under the voluntary Civil Service retirement plan automatically go up, too.

American Released By Iraqis

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — American oilman Paul Bail and his wife are expected to leave for the United States as soon as possible following his release Wednesday after a month of captivity in Baghdad.

Bail's arrest on a charge of "activities within the sphere of espionage" apparently resulted from the combination of a tall radio antenna projecting above his house and the current spy fever in Iraq.

Iraqi officials said Bail had an unlicensed transmitter, Belgian diplomats who interceded on behalf of the American said he had an old short-wave receiver, and the outside antenna it required aroused suspicion.

Bail, 35, a production engineer for the Iraq Petroleum Co., was arrested a month ago. His wife was placed under house arrest but was released Saturday and took refuge in the Belgian Embassy, which looks after U.S. interests in Iraq.

Bail did not learn he was being released until after he was brought to a news conference Wednesday in the Baghdad Museum.

He was seated at a table with the secretary of the information ministry, Shazel Taqaa, when Taqaa said: "Despite all the mistakes you have made, and because we Arab people have our noble principles and values, you, Mr. Paul Bail, are free as from this moment."

"You can join your wife and I am sure she will be happy to have you back at home," he said.

Looking pale and drawn under the glare of television lights, Bail seemed to have trouble comprehending what was happening. He remained seated until Taqaa motioned for him to get up and speak to the newsmen.

"I'm glad to be released," Bail said groping for words. "That's about it."

A government car took him to the Belgian Embassy to join his wife.

Bail went to Iraq a year ago for a two-year tour, on loan from Standard Oil of New Jersey's Humble Oil Co. The Iraq Petroleum Co. is a Western consortium which handles the production from Iraq's chief oilfield in Northern Iraq.

Film Is Banned

ADEN, Southern Yemen (AP) — The government has banned the film "Cleopatra," starring Elizabeth Taylor, on the ground that it was "disgracing Arabs and Egyptians."

made certain Wednesday that the pay boosts, recommended by a special commission that suggested big hikes for other top federal officeholders, would take effect Feb. 14 while Congress is on a 10-day vacation.

The Rules Committee killed a resolution that would have forced a vote on whether the 41 percent raise should be accepted.

The committee tabled a veto proposal by vote of 12 to 3, acting a day after the Senate killed a similar resolution, 47 to 34. The dual action cleared the way for the increases without further action.

It is the first pay hike for members of Congress since a $7,500 boost—from $22,500 to $30,000—was voted in 1964. It is the first raise in history on which there was not a direct vote, a departure made possible by a 1967 law.

Under current salary scales, the congressional pension ceiling has been $24,000 after 32 years service. This will go up to $34,000 five years from now because of the new raise. Congressmen are required to pay 7½ per cent of their monthly pay if they join the pension program.

Some of the other fringe benefits that add to congressional comforts are:

—A $3,000 income tax deduction for living expenses. A pending bill would raise this to $5,500.

—A $3,000 annual allowance intended for purchases of stationery in canteen Capitol stores. Members may draw this in cash and spend it for any purpose or pocket it.

—Travel expenses for at least seven round trips per year back home, plus two such trips for designated employees. This is in addition to one round trip per session at a cost of 20 cents per mile.

—Free mailing privileges for official correspondence, plus a varying allowance—now $700 per year for House members—for air mail and special delivery stamps.

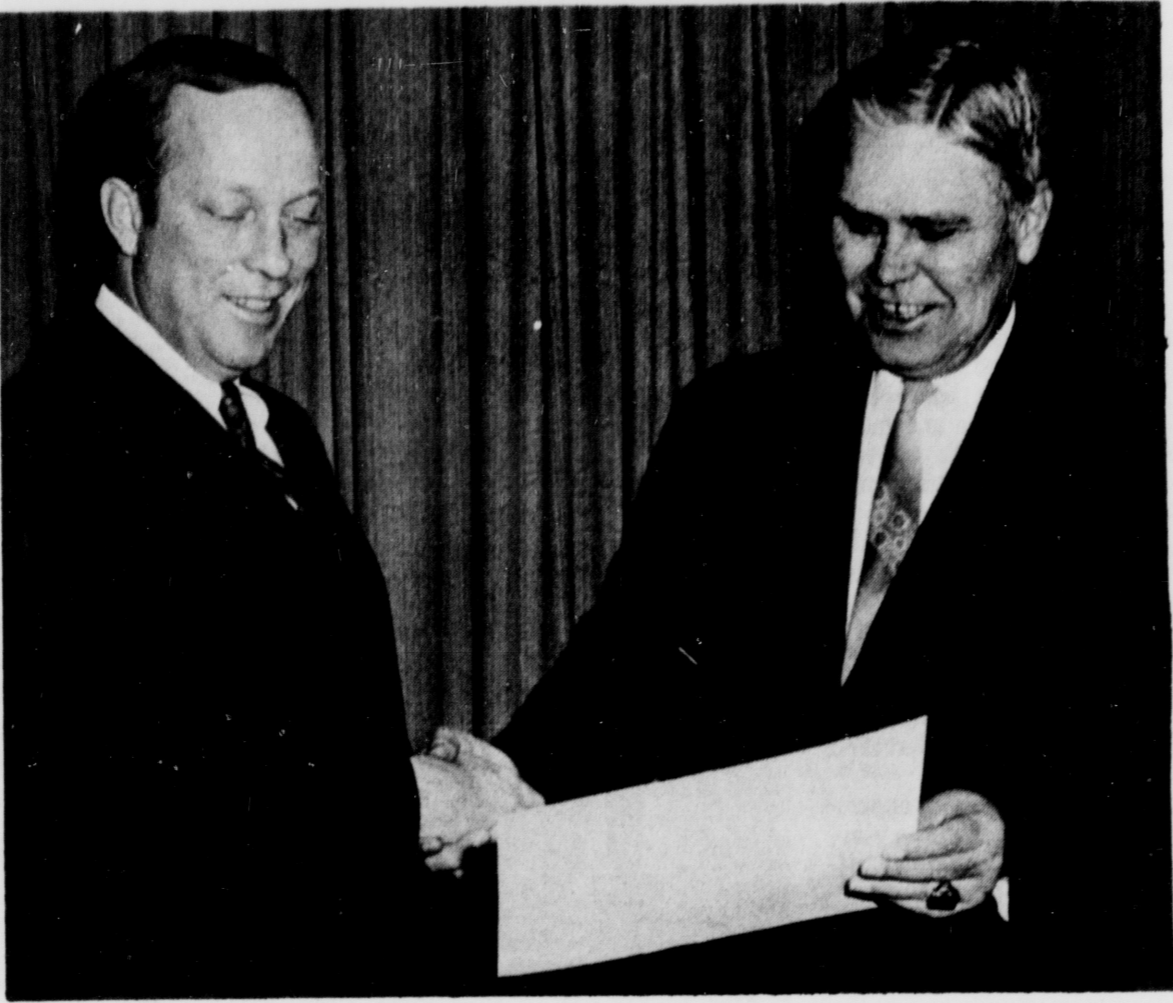

—Free telephone and telegraph service for official business which could run as high as 70,000 words of telegrams or cablegrams or almost 300 hours of long-distance phoning per year. This is in addition to unlimited long-distance service on leased government lines during limited hours on week-days and all day Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

—$3,600 a year for office expenses outside of Washington and free office space or annual rental allowances of $2,400 per year for two offices back home for House members. This varies for senators.

—Clerk hire allowances which vary for senators and representatives depending on the size of the state or district. The average House member may hire 11 employees and pay not more than one of them $24,439 per year. Senators are allowed more employees.

—Members may participate in group life insurance and health programs similar to many programs in private business. They contribute to the cost of the programs.

There are other benefits not spelled out in detail. These include world travel on official business, free haircuts for senators and cut rate haircuts (75 cents) for representatives and subsidized restaurants for members employees.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An attorney has launched his own attack against smog by filing a $500-billion suit against virtually everyone and everything in and out of Los Angeles County capable of producing air pollutants.

Roger J. Diamond, 25, of suburban Pacific Palisades, filed the 45-page complaint in Superior Court, listing nearly 300 defendants.

They include every major auto maker in the world, airlines, airports, railroads, and a diversified portfolio of companies, plants, refineries and factories.

Diamond, who represents the local, private, nonprofit Clean Air Council, said he filed the suit on behalf of the county's 7.1-million residents. The complaint also seeks an injunction barring the defendants from releasing pollutants into the air.

Hearings Are Set For Three Suspects

KANSAS CITY (AP) — U.S. Commissioner J. Whitfield Moody Wednesday scheduled preliminary hearings Feb. 13 for three men charged in the robbery of Linwood State Bank Tuesday.

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Rudolph Hill, 28, Reginald L. Cummings, 21, and Olnie Smith, 23, all of Kansas City.

Hill was arrested about an hour after the $4,000 robbery Tuesday. Cummings and Smith were arrested Wednesday in the Jackson County courthouse where Cummings was appearing on a minor charge.

All three were being held in lieu of $20,000 bond each. The charges were filed after the men were identified by bank employees.

Veteran In New Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran Army field commander of the Vietnam war will become military adviser to the Nixon administration's peace negotiating team in Paris, it has been learned.

He is Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who came to know the chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge when Lodge was ambassador to South Vietnam.

Weyand declined to comment on the reports, but it was learned he will leave for Paris this weekend.

Weyand, 52, back from Vietnam only five months, has been the Army's chief of reserve affairs, stationed in the Pentagon. He spent 2½ years in the war.

The tall, athletic native of Arbutle, Calif., led the 25th Infantry Division from Hawaii to Vietnam and later was promoted to command of U.S. forces in an 11-province corps area, including Saigon.

A request that Weyand be assigned to the U.S. delegation in Paris arrived about 10 days ago. Pentagon sources said they assumed the request came from Lodge.

Like other senior U.S. officers who served in Vietnam, Weyand feels the United States cannot just get up and leave after spending more than 31,000 lives and billions of dollars in South Vietnam.

He believes the South Vietnamese army is improving and progress is being made in pacification of the countryside. But he recognizes that U.S. authorities were late in getting Vietnamese leaders to move firmly toward assuming the major role in the war.

May Move Headquarters Of Baseball Commission

NEW YORK (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, baseball's brand new commissioner, hasn't even had time to get the feel of his new desk and already there is talk of moving it—and Kuhn with it—out of town.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, suggested Wednesday night that his city should become headquarters for all of baseball.

Wrigley said that he and Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, have favored a shift to Chicago for eight years. "Somehow, it always was sidetracked."

Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, commented he was surprised at sudden agreement.

"The two leagues have been feuding so long," said Allyn. "I didn't think we could even agree on the sun rising in the East."

Kuhn hopes that under his leadership, the hatchet can be buried by the National and American Leagues.

"We have to see if we can confine the competition to the World Series, signing of players and publicity, and not carry it over into matters in which the two leagues have a common interest," said Kuhn.

The Wall Street lawyer who was tapped to succeed Gen. William D. Eckert, is a virtual unknown outside of baseball's inner circles but he is not concerned about his anonymity.

"It is far more important that Dennis McLain and Bob Gibson be household words than Bowie Kuhn. The players and the way the game is played are the most important things," said Kuhn.

Kuhn's first and most pressing problem seems to be not how but if the game will be played this spring in the face of a threatened player strike over pension funds.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, congratulated the new commissioner on his election.

"We congratulate Mr. Kuhn and wish him well in his new duties and renew to him our offer to play a constructive role in efforts to modernize baseball's structure," Miller said. "We trust for the good of all, that he will bring to his office the new vitality and imagination which is so clearly needed."

Kuhn, longtime counsel for the National League and member of the owners' Player Relations Committee, will step out of the pension negotiations now underway.

"The Commissioner does have the power to offer himself as a mediator," Kuhn said. "That is up to the parties involved. I think there is a disposition to reach a reasonable settlement on both sides. The players and owners want one."

Kuhn said he favored experiments with changes in the playing rules dealing with pinch hitters and pinch runners.

"I am not one of those who think we should monkey with the basic fundamentals," he said. "Three strikes, four balls, three outs and nine innings are here to stay. But I think we should look at a lot of possibilities."

Kuhn said he thinks he has as much power as Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's first commissioner.

"The power exists to take action when necessary in the best interests of baseball," he said. "It is a broad power, but the real power of a commissioner is his ability to lead. I hope to move baseball by leadership based on a diligent study of the game."

No Animosity From Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers sent Vince Lombardi to Washington Wednesday night, with regret, and without animosity.

By unanimous vote, the 45-member Board of Directors of the National Football League club ended debate, and voted to accept Lombardi's resignation as general manager, releasing him from a contract that had five years remaining.

Lombardi joins the Washington Redskins as head coach, executive vice president and part owner. The Packers said they decided against demanding compensation from Washington for the loss of the man who had built their small-town team into a profitable terror of the gridiron.

Green Bay's executive committee advised Wednesday's emergency session of directors that, after his decade of contribution, it would seem unfair to block his desire for ownership in a pro club, something Lombardi couldn't have achieved under Green Bay's non-profit stock system.

Lombardi had said a return to coaching and ownership of a club were the chief appeals in the Washington package.

In his letter of resignation to the board, Lombardi told directors he had not been dissatisfied with his Green Bay income, but that he could no longer think of himself in terms of being a Packer coach again.

"There has never been a question of remuneration," his letter said. "After making a decision a year ago not to coach, I think you all can well understand the impossibility of my returning to the field in Green Bay. It would be totally unfair to coaches and players alike."

Lombardi, who had led Green Bay to five NFL titles in his nine years as coach and 10 as general manager, often expressed a hope of gaining ownership in a club. The Packers are a community-owned corporation in which no one is allowed to own more than a token number of shares.

Hands Off

In Drive Without Johnson

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets will have to make their stretch drive for a National Basketball Association division title without All-Star forward Gus Johnson.

Johnson suffered a torn medial ligament in his left knee Wednesday night and was to undergo surgery today at Kernan's Hospital.

The injury happened in the third quarter of Baltimore's 124-112 victory over the Boston Celtics, when Kevin Loughery of the Bullets collided with Johnson at the end of a fast break.

"This is a tremendous loss, because Gus is a great player," Coach Gene Shue said. "But it's not the end of the world. We can't let it disturb us. The rest of the players will have to work harder."

Baltimore, with a 40-15 record, leads the Eastern Division by three games over the Philadelphia 76ers.

With Johnson out, Shue will start Ray Scott at forward along with Jack Marin, and rookie Wes Unseld at center. Leroy Ellis and Ed Manning will be the back-up men in the front court.

"They'll get no sympathy from me," snorted Red Auerbach, Boston's temporary coach when informed of Johnson's injury. "We've had injuries all season."

Player-coach Bill Russell is currently sidelined with a knee injury sustained last Sunday, necessitating that Auerbach take over his old job as coach.

MALAGA, Spain (AP) — Bolislav Ivkov of Yugoslavia led the standings today after three rounds of the ninth Costa del Sol international chess tournament. Pal Benko of New York was second after defeating Spain's Francisco Garcia Tore in 29 moves Wednesday.

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — Olimpija, the Yugoslav champion, swamped Bayern of Munich, Germany, 94-46 Wednesday, completing a two-game sweep to qualify for the quarter-finals of the European Cup Winners basketball tournament.

Alcindor Awesome, Says Mate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's 7-foot-11-2 center, occasionally amazes his coach, John Wooden, with his ability to score.

The mobile monster is effective from two feet or 20. He can hit "nine out of 10 of those three-foot hook shots, no matter who's guarding him," says teammate Lynn Shackelford. "He's awesome," say most opposing players.

But Lew, a quiet, intelligent individual off the court, says he won't score very much when he first turns professional.

"I'm going to have to make an adjustment to the professional style of play," said Lew. "And that's a hard adjustment. I know I can do it, but I don't know how it's going to affect my game."

"I think my first year, the best thing I'll do is play defense. Scoring points—well, that's good for your salary but I don't know if that wins all the games."

Winning is the key to how Lew plays. He is unselfish and a team player all the way. Anything that wins the game Lew will do.

He is dedicated to the total effort of the team," said Wooden, a bespectacled former English teacher.

"I think all players want to do well individually but I think Lewis is more concerned about the over-all effort of the team, figuring he can do his part without necessarily scoring a lot. He is a truly well-rounded ball player."

"When he indicated his desire to come to UCLA, I said at that time that one of the things that interested me most about him was all reports were that he was an unselfish team player. And certainly, I feel that is a necessity in our type of play."

That type of play uses the swiftest of fast breaks, a tenacious full-court zone press and an emphasis on defense. To that end, Alcindor has learned to become a running giant.

"I don't think I'd mind playing a running game with the pros. I think I'd like that a lot better than coming down and waiting to get beat up on."

Lew, clad in a UCLA letterman's sweater, burgundy knit shirt, checked trousers and large sunglasses, was reluctant to say for which professional team he would like to play.

But when he was asked: "Would you like to play for the New York Knicks?" his eyes opened a bit wider, a smile crossed his face and he attempted to squash emotion when the native New Yorker said, "Oh, yeah . . ."

Pipers a Victim Of Free Throws

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Frustration is overcoming a gigantic lead . . . and then losing. Just ask the Minnesota Pipers.

The Pipers managed to make up a 27-point deficit Wednesday night only to fall victim to some last-minute free throw shooting in losing to the Los Angeles Stars 110-107 in the American Basketball Association.

The Stars rolled to the 27-point advantage in the second quarter and held a 57-39 lead at halftime before Minnesota outscored them 40-20 in the third period to take a two-point lead.

Los Angeles finally moved ahead 106-105 on a pair of free throws by Bob Warren with 43 seconds left. Teammate George Stone quickly followed with two more free throws to cinch it.

The Pipers were led by Tom Washington and Charlie Williams with 20 each.

The setback, however, didn't do any damage to the Pipers' one-game lead in the Eastern Division, since second-place Kentucky was a 114-108 victim of New Orleans.

Indiana moved to within .004 percentage points of the Colonels by whipping Denver 125-109. In other games, Dallas turned back Houston 120-116 and Miami stopped New York 111-99.

Over in the National Basketball Association, Chicago defeated Detroit 120-108, New York rolled past Milwaukee 111-102, San Diego thumped Cincinnati 110-93, Philadelphia defeated Seattle 119-115 and Baltimore ripped Boston 124-112.

New Orleans combined 33 points by James Jones with some deft free throw shooting to upend the Colonels. The Bucs hit all but nine of 34 charity attempts, while Kentucky managed only 11 of 15.

Jack Moreland helped out with 24 points, while Darel Carrier led the Colonels with 24.

Freddie Lewis and Bob Netolicky each drilled in 10 points during the third period to guide Indiana from only a two-point lead at halftime to a 19-point bulge, and Denver never threatened after that.

Mel Daniels of Indiana took game honors with 36. Larry Jones had 32 for Denver.

Player-coach Cliff Hagan came to a late rescue of his Dallas Chaparrals. The Chaps led most of the game, but Houston grabbed the lead in the fourth quarter before Hagan rallied his troops with 16 of his 21 points.

Glen Combs led Dallas with 34 points. Stu Johnson topped Houston with 21.

Miami fended off a late New York rally to win its fourth straight and boost its record to the .500 level for the first time since Dec. 2.

The Floridians held a comfortable advantage throughout most of the game, although the Nets managed to cut it to 97-91 with 4:47 left. But that was as close as New York could get.

Miami's Don Freeman and the Nets' Steve Chubin each scored 28 points.

Tie a Record Of Nine Wins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Explorers of La Salle, having captured No. 9, have their sights set on No. 8 in an attempt to rise above No. 7.

Translation: La Salle, ranked seventh in The Associated Press college basketball poll, tied the school record of nine straight regular season victories by whumping Lafayette 97-65 Wednesday night and setting up Saturday night's big meeting with eighth-ranked Villanova.

Actually, the 1954-55 team won 13 in a row, but the last four came in the postseason NCAA Tournament.

Wednesday night's triumph gave Tom Gola, who led La Salle to its greatest heights in the mid-1950s, a 17-1 mark in his rookie season as coach. Larry Cannon was high scorer with 29 points and 6-foot-7 sophomore Ken Durrett had 20, 18 of them in the second half.

The only other teams in the Top Twenty to see action were 11th-ranked Tulsa, which turned back St. Louis 80-66; No. 15 Duquesne, a 78-71 winner over Providence, and 16th-rated New Mexico State, which walloped Hardin-Simmons 103-78.

Rob Washington and Ron Carson set personal scoring highs of 34 and 24 points, respectively, in Tulsa's victory over pesky St. Louis. The win gave the Golden Hurricane record of 17-2 and a school record of nine straight Missouri Valley Conference victories.

Duquesne trailed 38-36 at halftime against stubborn Providence but rallied in the second half behind 6-9 Gary Major and Jarrett Durham. Major paced the comeback while Durham scored a game high 30 points and sank six clutch free throws in the final three minutes.

New Mexico State, which lost a pair to arch-rival New Mexico last week after 16 straight wins, found Hardin-Simmons more to its liking and whipped the Cowboys for the second night in a row. Sam Lacey popped in 23 points and the other four starters also scored in double figures.

Drake's Dolph Pulliam held high-scoring Aaron Jenkins to 12 points and scored 20 himself in a 94-71 rout of Iowa State.

Bob Arzenz, playing with a bruised tendon, made DePaul hurt even more. He scored 31 points and grabbed 23 rebounds as Notre Dame downed the Blue Demons 85-73.

Miami of Ohio held onto first place in the Mid-American Conference with an 83-55 rout of Marshall behind George Burkhardt's sharpshooting. In another Mid-American contest, Gerald McKee scored 36 points but Ohio University needed a late free throw by Craig Love to send the game into overtime and enable the Bobcats to post a 98-95 victory over Toledo.

Tulsa Team Scores Ninth Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
League-leading Tulsa, sparked by Rob Washington and Ron Carson, scored its ninth consecutive Missouri Valley conference basketball victory in defeating St. Louis 80-66 Wednesday night.

The Drake Bulldogs rolled over Iowa State 94-71 in a non-conference game.

Tulsa, 17-2 over-all and ranked 11th nationally, got 34 points from Washington and 24 points from Carson as St. Louis concentrated on stopping conference scoring leader, Bobby Smith.

Smith, who carried a 26.2 average into the game, was held to nine points on seven free throws and one field goal.

The defeat dropped the Billikens to 3-6 in the Valley and 4-14 for the season.

In Des Moines, Drake's speedy Dolph Pulliam held Iowa State's Aaron Jenkins to 12 points as the Bulldogs scored their 15th victory in 19 games. Jenkins had averaged 25 points in his last three games.

Pulliam scored 20 points and pulled down 15 rebounds. Iowa State's Bill Cain had 19 points and 16 rebounds. The defeat evened ISU's season mark at 10-10.

MVC games tonight send Bradley to Wichita, Louisville to Memphis State and Cincinnati to North Texas State.

Otto Couldn't Get Through to Boss

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If you think the George Allen-Dan Reeves fissure out in Los Angeles shook up the natives, get a load of the intimate details behind the crackup of the Otto Graham-Edward Bennett Williams entente in Washington, D.C., which led to the hiring of Vince Lombardi.

The way we get it from the usual unimpeachable sources, the dialogue completely broke down between Otto the coach and Edward Bennett the club president. That's unusual enough in itself since both are highly articulate, verbose and ebullient characters who have little difficulty communicating.

But the trouble in the tepee of the Redskins was that they couldn't get through to each other in the final days of the Graham regime—actually, Otto couldn't get through to his boss.

Since the Redskins were notoriously mediocre in the three years of Graham cracking (17 wins, 22 losses, three ties), rumors of his dismissal were as common as afternoon cocktails. But Otto himself couldn't find out any more than a Senate page boy. He asked Williams two weeks before his dismissal for a vote of confidence. Edward Bennett stalled.

The Redskins had dumped a couple assistant coaches. Otto wanted to fill the vacancies himself. Edward Bennett said, "Let's wait a couple of weeks."

So Otto went off on a little holiday the other day 95 per cent sure that EBW was going to fill more than just a couple of assistantships. For one thing, his authority as general manager had been undermined by the boss. He had Sonny Jurgensen ready to unload on Atlanta in a big package deal, and Williams thumbed it down. He had Bobby Mitchell going to the Chicago Bears some time ago, and again couldn't get the final O.K.

A couple deals in the last year were shoved down Graham's unwilling throat—for instance, the acquisition of Gary Beban from the Rams for a first draft choice and the signing of veteran guard John Wooten after Cleveland released him.

The cost of unloading Graham was high. Otto had two years remaining on a $50,000-a-year contract, and a firm option for five more years at $30,000 per. That adds up to a cool quarter of a million dollars, and the Redskins have already raised ticket prices to help balance the budget. No wonder they offered to retain Graham in some kind of "non-coaching capacity."

The Redskins already have this mixed up financial situation in which the controlling George Marshall interest of 52 per cent is all tied up legally. Jack Kent Cooke owns 25 per cent and apparently put pressure on Williams for a better showing of the club esthetically. So did the C. Leo DeOrsey estate, which owns five per cent, same as Milton King, who is in his camp.

Edward Bennett believes in doing things with a flair. That's why he hired Graham initially. When finally deciding on a successor to Graham, it was a cinch he would not go the traditional route of elevating a bright young assistant from his own or some other NFL organization.

Which brings us to the ubiquitous name in this type of situation—Vince Lombardi. For several years, Lombardi has been interested in any type of proposition in which a piece of the action could be made available to him, simply because in Green Bay he could never share in the ownership of the team. In Washington, the DeOrsey holdings, estimated at five per cent, were offered as an inducement.

Before the Graham firing, Williams had dinner with Lombardi several times. He pooh-poohed the significance of them, Claims he frequently had dinner with Lombardi. Probably spent the evenings talking about the finger twitching of his old client, Frank Costello.

Otto wanted another chance to show he can succeed with the Redskins. Out in Los Angeles, George Allen also wanted another chance—and got it when his players, among them the starting quarterback, publicly went to bat for him. Think Otto could have gotten that kind of endorsement from Sonny Jurgensen?

You can be sure, under the new setup, that if Lombardi ever decides to trade Jurgensen, there would be no interference from the front office, that much of a change has been wrought in Washington.

Joins Russell On the Sideline

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gus Johnson, Baltimore's All-Star forward, has joined Boston player-coach Bill Russell on the sidelines as injuries continue to shake the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division title contenders.

Johnson suffered a torn ligament in his left knee in a third quarter spill Wednesday night as the first place Bullets hung a 124-112 setback on the crippled Celtics. Boston lost Russell last Sunday when the 6-foot-10 pivotman suffered strained knee ligaments in a game against New York.

Earlier, Cazzie Russell of the Knickerbockers and Luke Jackson of the Philadelphia 76ers were shelved for the season with injuries.

Johnson also was feared lost for at least six weeks. He collided with teammate Kevin Loughery and fell heavily to the floor. Physicians said the 6-foot-6 Baltimore would undergo surgery today.

In Wednesday night's other games, the streaking Knicks trimmed the Milwaukee Bucks 111-102; the San Diego Rockets upended the Cincinnati Royals 110-93; the Chicago Bulls repulsed the Detroit Pistons 120-108 and the 76ers topped the Seattle SuperSonics 119-115.

In American Basketball Association play, Indiana whipped Denver 125-109; Dallas edged Houston 120-116; New Orleans defeated Kentucky 114-108; Miami downed New York 111-99 and Los Angeles beat Minnesota 110-107.

Earl Monroe scored 30 points to lead the Bullets past Boston. He hit two key lay-ups on feeds from Wes Unseld in the last 2½ minutes, choking off a Celtic rally. Loughery put in 23 points, Jack Marin 22 and Unseld 20 for the Bullets. Sam Jones topped Boston with 30 and John Havlicek had 28.

The victory kept Baltimore three games ahead of New York and Philadelphia in the Eastern race and left the defending champion Celtics in fourth place, 6½ games behind.

The Knicks also survived a late rally in getting past the Bucks in Milwaukee for their seventh straight victory and 24th in the last 28 games. The Bucks, who trailed by as many as 25 points, cut New York's lead to 96-90 in the final quarter before running out of steam.

Willis Reed, with 24 points, and Bill Bradley, with 22, paced the Knicks' attack. Flynn Robinson was high for the Bucks with 35.

Jim Barnett's 14-point third quarter spree helped the Rockers subdue Cincinnati. Barnett, Don Kojis and Elvin Hayes each finished with 25 points for San Diego. Oscar Robertson had 22 for the Royals.

The Bulls snapped a four-game losing streak and extended Detroit's losing string to four despite 28 points by Dave Bing of the Pistons. Bob Boozer hit on all five of his shots from the floor in the opening quarter, sending the Bulls ahead to stay.

Jerry Sloan's 23 points and 22 apiece by Clem Haskins and Jim Washington keyed Chicago's attack.

Hal Greer produced a season high of 48 points in spearheading Philadelphia's triumph over Seattle as the 76ers overcame an early 17-point deficit.

The SuperSonics took a 91-86 margin going into the final period but Greer, who hit on 18 of 28 field goal tries, kept Philadelphia close.

A pair of free throws by Billy Cunningham put the 76ers in front for good and Wally Jones converted two more foul shots with three seconds left for the clincher.

To Set Hearing On Eagles' Sale

BALTIMORE (AP)—A federal bankruptcy referee was expected to set a date today for a hearing to consider Jerry Wolman's proposed conditional sale of the Philadelphia Eagles for $15.6 million.

Wolman, who owns 52 per cent of the National Football League club, has proposed the conditional sale to Leonard Tose, a trucking executive from Norristown, Pa.

The deal would be canceled if Wolman is able to raise enough money by May 1 to pay off secured creditors in his year-long battle to avoid bankruptcy. If Wolman is unsuccessful by the May 1 deadline, Tose would take over the Eagles.

Hope Tourney Enjoyable Stop On Winter Tour

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—As defending champion Arnold Palmer put it, the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic is an enjoyable stop on the winter tour.

At least 46 of the field of 136 professionals agreed after whacking par around in the first round. They could only hope the fun continued through the second round of the marathon, 90-hole tournament today.

Four pros shared the lead after one round—U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, veteran Gene Littler and two young guys, Marty Fleckman and Tom Shaw.

They were five under par with first round 67s but the field in the par was as bunched as a stalk of bananas.

The Hope show of golf is played on four desert courses. Each has par 36-36-72. The relative merits of each are debatable, and debated they are by the resident members.

Two of the stars, Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, played Bermuda Dunes in par 72, with Billy Casper one stroke in front.

CAN-AM SERIES SET

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—The Sports Car Club of America has set the dates for its 10-race schedule for the 1969 Canadian-American Challenge Cup.

The first speed tests are scheduled for June 1 at Bowmanville, Ontario. The other races are set for June 29 at St. Jovite, Quebec; July 13 at Watkins Glen, N.Y.; July 27 at Edmonton, Alberta; Aug. 17 at Lexington, Ohio; Aug. 31 at Elkhart Lake, Wis.; Sept. 14 at Bridgehampton, N.Y.; Oct. 12 at Monterey, Calif.; Oct. 26 at Monterey, Calif.; and Nov. 9 at Las Vegas, Nev.

Referee Curt Prins slipped in three-second zone during recent Virginia-St. John's basketball game, but didn't even lose his whistle. The game was held up for awhile, but Prins bounced back to finish game . . . and catch some other three-second violators.

Coach Scared Of Specialists

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—"I'm frightened to death of specialists," Ben Wilson said Wednesday at a news conference announcing his appointment as head football coach at Wichita State University.

"I don't want a quarterback who can just throw or one who can just run," Wilson said. "I want athletes who can play more than one position."

The 43-year-old offensive coach at the University of Virginia signed a four-year contract at WSU for an undisclosed amount. However, it is believed Wilson's salary will exceed the $14,000 annually paid Eddie Kriewiel, who resigned Jan. 17.

Apparently the versatility won't be limited to the athletes—Wilson said he plans to install a multiple offense this spring.

"I like to give opponents a new look every week," he said. The Cadiz, Ohio, native said Athletic Director Bert Katzen-meyer had given him a budget "which is fair" and he planned to have six assistants.

Wilson said he couldn't predict how many games Wichita State would win next season, but he promised the team would be disciplined and in condition. WSU didn't win any of its ten games last season.

Wilson, who graduated from Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, said: "In recruiting you have to have something to sell and I think we have it here."

"With the new stadium and, hopefully, the new all-weather turf, I think an athlete can see we are building a program and he might get to play sooner than some other places."

Prior to his four years at Virginia Wilson had been an assistant coach at Heidelberg and head coach at Ohio high schools from 1951 to 1964.

Culver-Stockton Defeats Illinois

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Culver-Stockton poured in 15 points in the final 5½ minutes in defeating Illinois College 83-70 in a non-conference basketball game Wednesday night.

Lance Rogers scored seven points during Culver-Stockton's late rally to lead the team to its tenth victory in 18 games this season.

Illinois College is 6-9 on the campaign.

Lamar Tech Jumps Into No. 1 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lamar Tech has jumped into the No. 1 spot among the nation's small college basketball powers. But the Cardinals from Beaumont, Tex., might have trouble staying there after their first tumble of the season.

Lamar Tech, which ran its unbeaten string to 15 games last week before being toppled by Texas-Arlington Monday night, moved up from fifth place to the top position in The Associated Press weekly poll, which was based on games through last Saturday.

Fairmont, W.Va., No. 1 a week ago, fell to third—behind Ashland, Ohio—after bowing to Morris Harvey for its first setback in 17 games. Ashland, 17-1, moved up one place to No. 2.

The vote was close, the panel of 19 sports writers and broadcasters giving Lamar Tech a total of 259 points, to 251 for Ashland and 246 for Fairmont. Lamar Tech received five first place votes, Ashland and Fairmont three each. Eight other teams got one vote apiece for the top spot.

Following the top three in the balloting were Stephen F. Austin, 18-2, Southwestern, La., 14-4, Kentucky Wesleyan, 15-3, Trinity, Tex., 15-3, Long Beach State, 17-2, South Dakota State 15-2, and Wittenberg, 13-1.

South Carolina State and Alcorn A&M, unbeaten in 15 games apiece through last weekend, were ranked 13th and 20th, respectively.

The top 20, with first place votes, season records through games of Saturday, Feb. 1, and total points:

THEY SURELY TRIED

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The University of New Mexico's 0-10 football record in 1968 wasn't without some glimmer.

Tailback David Bookert, who is scheduled to return for the 1969 season, set a single-season rushing record for the school with 872 yards in 201 carries.

Wingback Ace Hendricks became the school's No. 1 pass receiver in history with 85 catches. Punter Jack Lennon also established a new school mark with 77 boots—four more than by Jack Holler in 1967.

BOY SCOUT

WEEK

FEBRUARY 7-13

59th ANNIVERSARY

Scouting points the way to good citizenship!
In the Scout Laws, a boy finds a code of conduct that will serve him well all his life.

Through Scouting boys learn the obligations and rights of citizens in a free land. Many will become leaders of tomorrow. We feel secure in the knowledge that they will uphold the high ideals of our democracy. Let's offer them our support.
